When the Patriots of the American Football Conference's Eastern Division announced their move out of rickety little Boston College Stadium to their beautiful new 6.2-million dollar, 62,000-seat Schaefer Stadium in nearby Foxboro, they also told the world that they had a new name. Call them the Bay State Patriots.

Wait a minute, said some brain in the organization.

Since the Patriots are the only pro football team in all of New England, why not maximize their appeal by calling them the New England Patriots? Done, the club's brass proclaimed happily.

As catchy as New England Patriots sounds, there's a better, more accurate name for the club. It should be called the Plunkett Patriots.

Of course, that's Plunkett as in Jim Plunkett, Stanford's

Heisman Award-winning quarterback last fall and the Patriots' and pro football's

No. 1 choice in last January's draft. The Patriots turned down offers for him from 17 other teams. He is the main reason why 42,000 season tickets (as opposed to 9,000 just two years ago) were already sold by late this

April to see a team that finished 2-12 last season. He is the player new Los Angeles Rams' coach Tommy Prothro calls, "the best quarterback prospect I have ever seen." He is the man who figures to put former Viking star quarterback Joe Kapp on the bench or get him traded.

"He is our quarterback of the future," says Patriots' president Billy Sullivan. Sullivan could have just as easily said, "He is our future."

Jim Plunkett- CAN HE CARRY THE PATRIOTS ON HIS BACK?

Patriot fans bought season tickets in record numbers, anticipating the start of a Golden Age under Plunkett for their sorry team.

Never has any rookie had to break in under more awesome pressure

Analyzing why he didn't trade Plunkett, Sullivan admits the pressure to make a deal was great. "The Baltimore Colts and Philadelphia Eagles came closest," he says. Now the question arises whether the Patriots are seeking to trade Kapp, thereby throwing Plunkett to the wolves immediately—before he discovers for himself that the defensive end of the New York Jets does inflict a sturdier lick than the defensive end of Washington State. Supposedly Norm Van Brocklin wants Kapp to direct his Atlanta Falcons, a team which could conceivably win a batch of games with the right man at quarterback.

However, if Kapp remains a Patriot, Plunkett must prepare himself for a situation which could become touchy. He will be competing against a proven pro quarterback, who in the span of less than a year went from big shot hero to big shot villain. You can bet Injun Joe is raring to make amends, which means he will be fighting to keep Mr. Heisman Trophy out of the lineup.

"There will not be any rivalry between us," Kapp steadfastly declared. "One of the first things I did when the Patriots signed me and brought me to Boston was talk to Mike Taliaferro. I told him that when he was on the field I would be behind him 100 percent and I expected the same thing when things were reversed. Well, frankly I didn't get that. I'm not putting the rap on Mike, just stating a fact. There is nothing that hasn't happened to me. I have even had interceptions

"He is our quarterback of the future," says Patriots' owner Billy Sullivan of Plunkett.

Plunkett gazes down at Boston. He'll own the city if he lives up to his great potential.

in my own end zone. You name anything bad—and it's happened to me.

"Consequently, I'm a fellow who plays it loose. I've always got my bags packed. I don't push people around and nobody pushes me."

Plunkett plays it loose, too, or at least he does one heck of a job putting up a front. The pressure of winning the Heisman Trophy, securing a big money contract, living with the harsh reality that college phenoms often fall on their faces as professionals, and being the namesake of the Plunkett Patriots doesn't seem to perturb him.

"I hope the fans won't expect too much of me," Plunkett said, a thought that could win him the wishful thinking award of the year. "Terry Bradshaw said the Pittsburgh fans expected too much of him last season and it hurt his development.

"Of course it would bother me to sit on the bench," he added. "But if that's what I'll have to do, I'll watch and learn. I want to learn as much as I can as quickly as I can from anybody who will teach me—coach (John) Mazur, Joe Kapp, anyone.

Plunkett led Stanford to an upset victory over Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, leading Rams' coach Tom Prothro to call Jim, "the best pro quarterback prospect I have ever seen."

I want to make the team and improve along with it."

The fans who saw Plunkett lead his underdog Stanford team to a 27-17 victory over Ohio State in the Rose Bowl and establish NCAA career records in passing yardage (7,544) and total offense (7,887) as well as 16 Pacific-8 marks, believe Jim will never sit on the bench. They're certain he has the proper determination to go with his natural skills, which might explain Sullivan saying no to the 17 other clubs. Plunkett figures to have a flare for exciting crowds and luring people into football stadiums. The other Patriots do not.

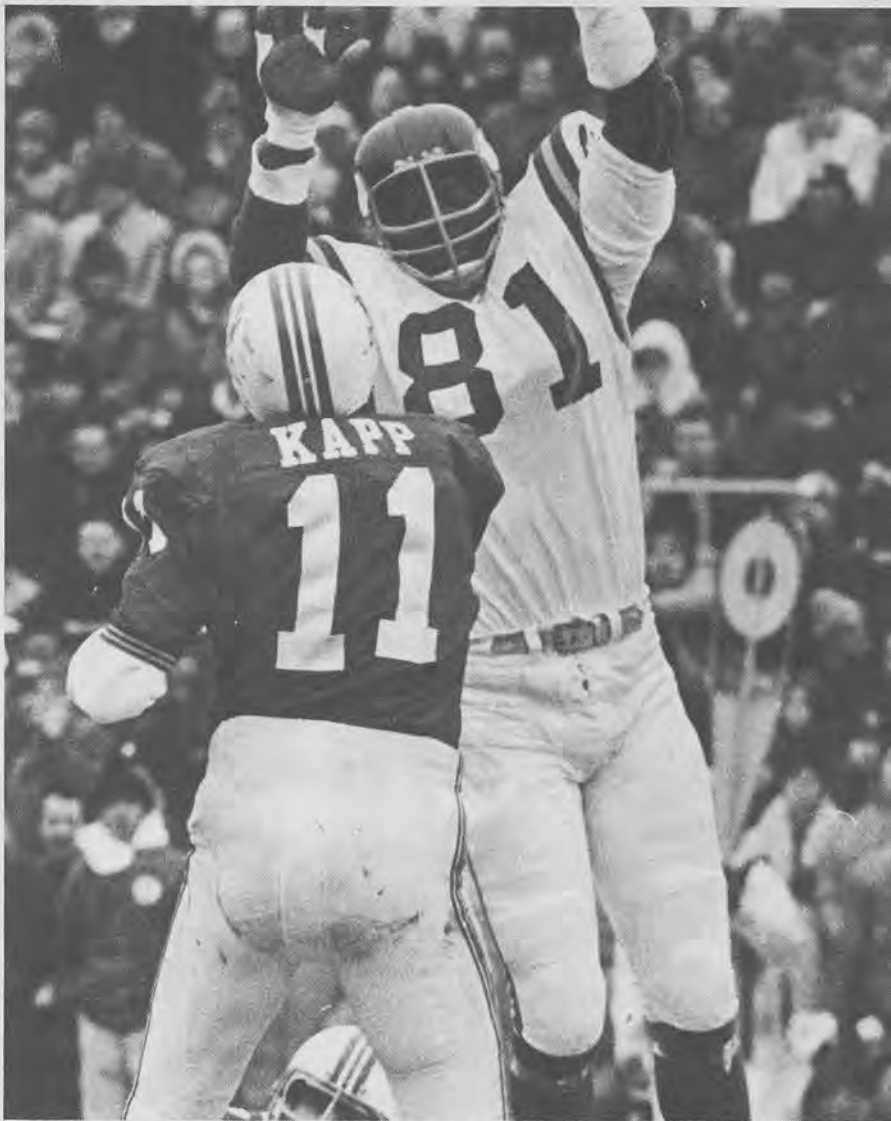

Sullivan is convinced Plunkett is the man to revitalize the Patriots, as Joe Namath did with the once rudderless New York Jets. At first, it will be enough for Plunkett to fill Schaefer Stadium. In time, the script has him guiding the once-hapless Patriots into contention for an American Football Conference championship. It's a tall order for an untried kid, but if anyone can pull it off it would be someone like Plunkett.

From boyhood, Jim Plunkett has been forced to overcome formidable obstacles. Growing up in San Jose, California, Plunkett worked an assortment of jobs—grocery store clerk, gas station attendant and newsboy—to help his parents, both of whom were blind. Jim's father William was a news vendor. He died two years ago. His mother, an ardent football fan, lives in San Jose with a daughter.

"Jim doesn't talk too much about his family life," Stanford wide receiver Jack Lasater observed. Lasater, Plunkett and tight end Bob Moore shared an off-campus apartment in Palo Alto last year. "He doesn't like to make a big issue out of the hard life he's had."

Plunkett's freshman year at Stanford was disrupted by the discovery of a thyroid tumor in the left side of his neck, which required surgery in September, 1966. "If it had been malignant they would have had to remove a muscle which would have affected my left shoulder," Plunkett said. "I couldn't have played football any more. When I came out from under the anesthetic, I found out it was benign."

Jim's rival for the starting job, Joe Kapp (No. 11), says, "I'm a fellow who plays it loose. I've always got my bags packed. I don't push people around and nobody pushes me."

Plunkett wasn't on the varsity the following year, watching instead from the bench as a redshirt and quarterbacking the B-team in practice. As a sophomore in 1968, he threw seven touchdown passes in his first two games, providing coach John Ralston a good idea of what to expect the next three years. After leading the Indians to records of 6-3-1 and 7-2-1, Plunkett was eligible to turn pro a year ago but chose to remain in school for his senior season. "We'd been building something at Stanford," he said. "Had I left last year I would have always had the feeling that I let the coaches and other players down before our goals were reached."

That's the kind of person Jim Plunkett is.

His future at Boston is dependent on several factors, among them Kapp's stature, the improvement of the Patriots' offensive line and Mazur. On Plunkett's first visit to Boston last winter, a sportswriter asked if he was going to watch the Patriots' game films. Kapp, who was there for the tequila, cracked: "I don't think he should. He's too young to be watching horror movies."

Plunkett didn't flinch. "I'm a pretty healthy guy," he said. "I can take a beating."

Kapp snickered to himself, knowing too well the pounding he absorbed last year that Plunkett can expect this season.

Lack of confidence won't handicap the rookie. But neither will overconfidence. "In my own mind I feel I can throw the football with anyone up here," Plunkett said. "The big thing is my adjusting to receivers and their adjusting to me. I'll have to work on my quickness and setting up after the snap. I'm fairly big for a quarterback (6-4, 215) and there are times I don't get off the mark as quickly as I'd like."

Plunkett was in New York last January for the Walter Camp All-America presentations when word came that he was a Patriot. "I was at the Downtown Athletic Club playing basketball and taking some sauna. The coach called me. He said they wouldn't trade me. He said that I was their boy." ▲

THE COWBOYS AND RAIDERS:

WHY THEY CHOKED IN THE BIG GAMES

By Murray Chass

Over the past five seasons, the Raiders have had the best overall record in pro football and the Cowboys have had the third best. Time and again both teams have been on the verge of going all the way, only to blow it in some bizarre fashion. It has gotten to the point where some people think it's not just bad breaks holding them back

If the Dallas Cowboys and the Oakland Raiders ever play in the Super Bowl, there would be no winner. The game would end in a tie. After all, how could pro football's biggest losers ever win pro football's biggest title?

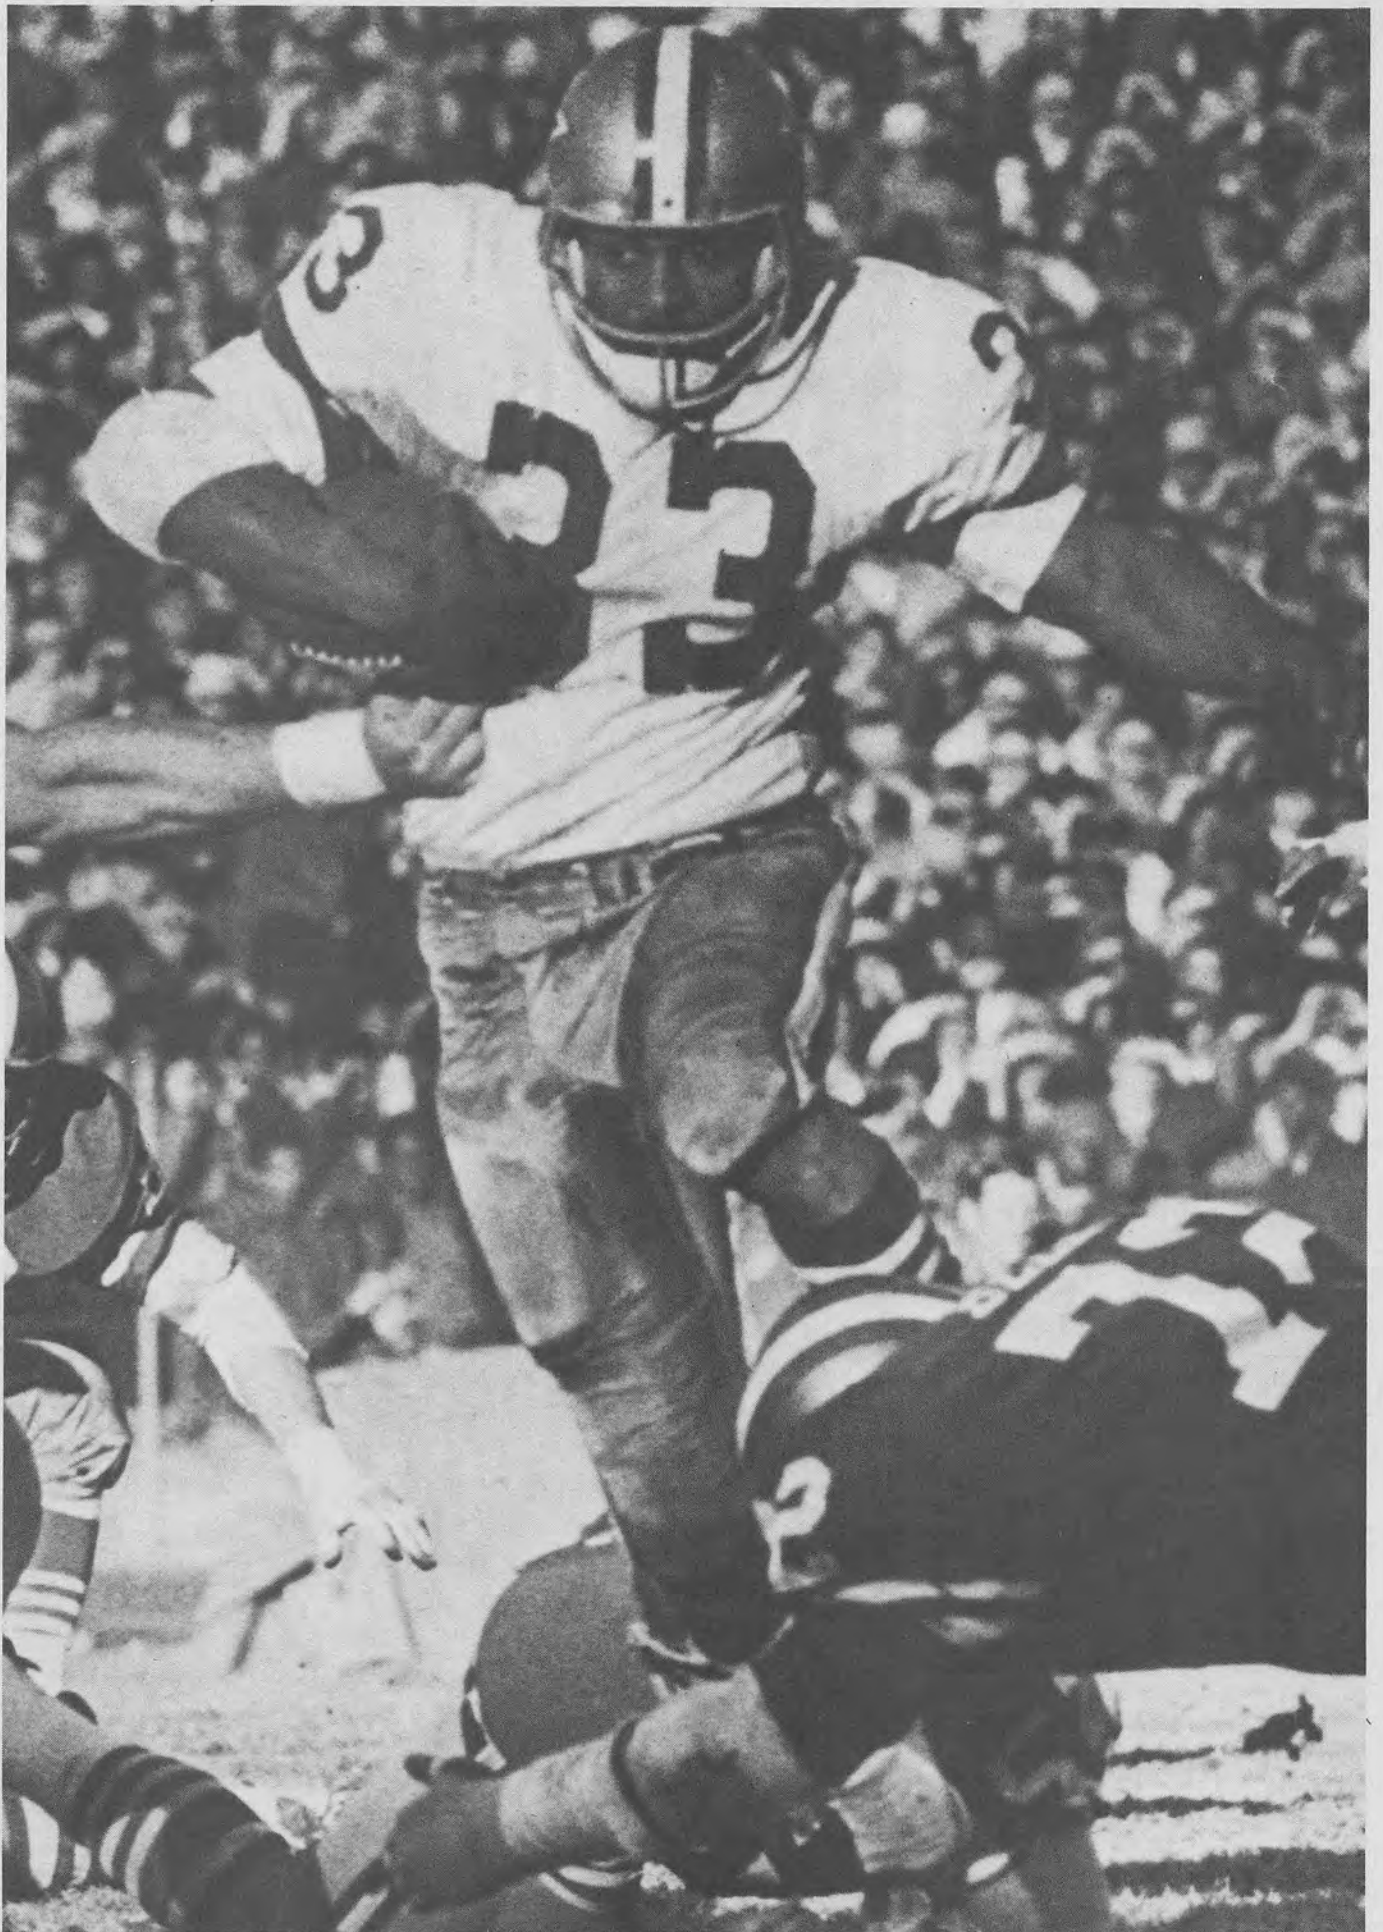

To be sure (and maybe even to be fair), the Cowboys and the Raiders really cannot be called losers if their regular-season records are considered. On the contrary, in the past five seasons the Raiders have the game's best won-loss record in regular-season play (53 victories, 13 defeats, 4 ties) and the Cowboys have the third-best mark (52-16-2).

But in post-season play . . . well, that's another story, a completely different story, a losers' story.

In post-season play, neither the Raiders nor the Cowboys ever have won the ultimate championship they were playing for. Oakland, for example, won the American League championship in 1967 but lost to Green Bay in the Super Bowl. Oakland, for another example, won the Western Division title in 1968 but lost to the New York Jets in the American League title game.

The same Raiders won the Western Division title in 1969 and even won their semifinal game in the playoffs, but then lost to the Kansas City Chiefs in the AFL championship contest. Finally and most recently, Oakland won the title in the American Conference's Western Division and defeated Miami in a semifinal AFC playoff game last season, but then, true to their reputation, stumbled over Baltimore in the AFL championship game.

But the Raiders have nothing on the Cowboys, who were in the business of losing the big ones even before Oakland. The Cowboys, who, like the Raiders, were born in 1960, began building their reputation at the age of six. In 1966 they won the NFL's Eastern Conference crown, then lost to Green Bay in the NFL championship game. In 1967 they beat Cleveland for the Eastern title, then suffered a last-second loss to the Packers in the NFL title contest. Dallas never even got to the NFL title contest in 1968, losing to Cleveland in the Eastern Conference championship game after having won the Capitol

A fumble by Duane Thomas (above) on Baltimore's two-yard line in last year's Super Bowl cost the Cowboys a probable TD and title.

Division crown. The following year, the Cowboys did it again, losing to the same team in the same circumstances.

Then came 1970, when for much of the season it didn't even look as if Dallas would reach the playoffs. But what would the playoffs be without the Cowboys around, waiting to lose to someone somewhere along the way? Why the playoffs would lose their legitimacy.

But fear not, the Cowboys came charging along on their multiple-offense horses and snatched the NFC's Eastern Division crown away from the New York Giants (who in their heyday were big-game losers themselves—but that's another story). Gaining momentum for their big loss, the Cowboys defeated Detroit in a semifinal contest and then handled San Francisco successfully in the NFC title game, a combination of events that catapulted the Texas team right into the Super Bowl, the BIG GAME of big games.

Incredibly—for them—the Cowboys almost won it, but with time running out they suddenly regained their senses and submitted to the same Baltimore Colts who kept Oakland's big-game loss streak alive two weeks earlier in the AFC title game.

But as the losing reputations of these two teams have mushroomed, one fact has been overlooked: In order to reach the point where the Raiders and the Cowboys have lost biggies, they had to win some big games along the way, too. That more or less is the point Oakland boss Al Davis had in mind when he recently said, "We're always up there playing in those games for people to say those things. Another team, on the other hand, might get into a big game once in seven years and lose, but no one ever talks about them."

Coach Tom Landry, the mastermind of both the Dallas successes and flops, also has disputed the Cowboys' reputation.

"That business about the Cowboys losing the big ones is passe," Landry said. "That stuff is nonsense. It all started when we lost those two games to the Packers in '66 and '67. That choke business is so old I don't even bother to read about it any more."

The only problem with that statement is that Landry made it last season—before the Cowboys lost still another big one in Miami to Baltimore.

Coaches and players alike profess publicly that history has no effect on them, that what happens one season has nothing to do with another. Davis, for example, says, "People only remember the guy who won the Super Bowl. They don't appreciate our maintaining—and I hate to sound trite—our maintaining of excellence. We are interested in our commitment to excellence and we've been able to maintain excellence over the last eight years relative to the way we started, although we admit we haven't gotten the one thing we want which is a Super Bowl victory."

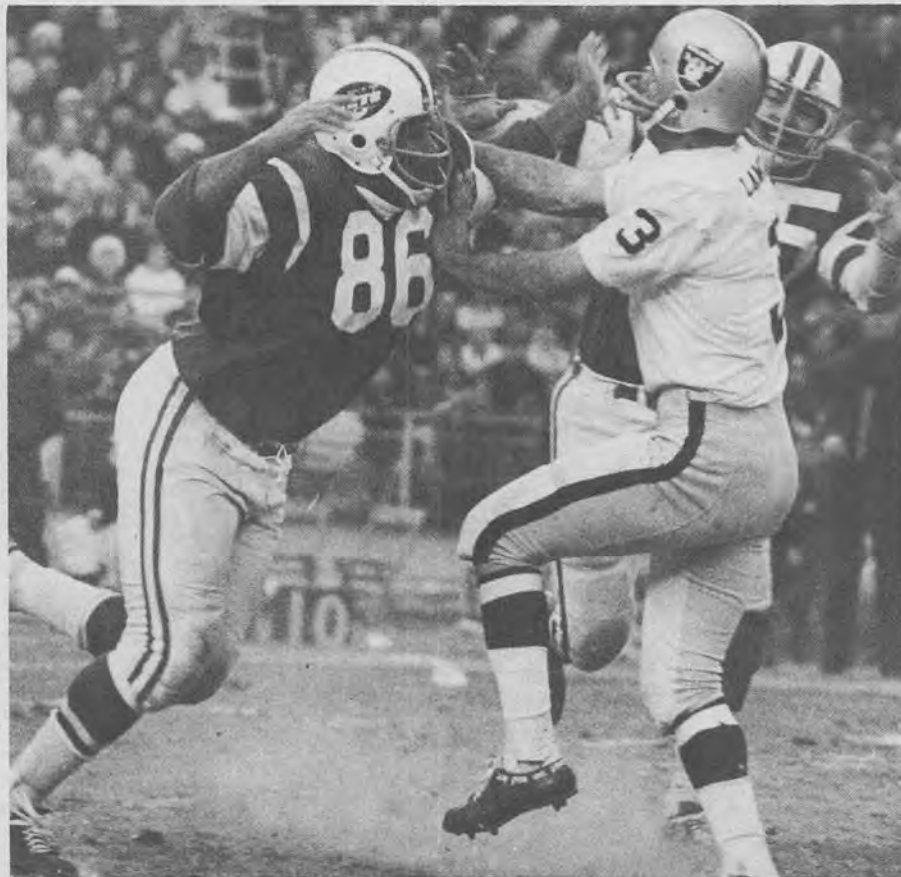

Davis may really feel there's no con-

"There's nothing wrong with our system," insists Cowboys' defensive tackle Ralph Neely.

Oakland's Tom Keating (above) says, "I don't think that losing one game will affect us in others." But teammate Gene Upshaw (below) says losing "is murder to live with."

Raider Daryle Lamonica (chased above by Jet Verlon Biggs) claims, "A lot of people say we fold under pressure. This is untrue . . . It's just a matter of circumstances, I think."

Oakland running back Charlie Smith's explanation of the Raiders' lack of success in crucial games is simple: "It's buzzard's luck."

nection between what happens one year and the next, but when a team repeatedly loses crucial games, some players start to wonder just what it is that keeps them from winning.

"It's buzzard's luck" says Charlie Smith, an Oakland running back. "Each year I've felt we played against a good team but not a team that should beat us on that day. Yet things happen to us. George Atkinson fumbles (against Baltimore), which he didn't do all year. Nemiah Wilson misreads a coverage. Strange, unusual things happen."

"It's murder to live with," says Raider guard Gene Upshaw. "Most teams get only one shot at it and we've had four. I'm 24 and there ought to be more chances left, but some of the older guys on the club want to get back there before they run out of time."

The Raiders started last season's AFC title game against the Colts as if their time had come. With Hewritt Dixon ramming his way through the Baltimore defense, the Raiders quickly moved to the Colt 35-yard line. Then inexplicably, Daryle Lamonica quit giving the ball to his runners and instead went to the air, throwing two incomplete passes. The third time he went back to pass he was enveloped by a hungry Colt line, killing Oakland's touchdown chances and setting the tone for another big-game loss.

Dallas picked an even more incredible way to keep its streak alive in the Super Bowl. For example, the Cowboys were about to increase their lead to 20-6 when Duane Thomas fumbled the ball over to the Colts on their one-yard line. Then in the fourth quarter, with the game tied, 13-13, Craig Morton tried a flare pass that had worked three times before. This time, though, the ball skipped off Dan Reeves' fingers and into the intercepting hands of Mike Curtis. Three plays later, Jim O'Brien kicked the field goal that gave the Colts the big-game victory.

The game was reminiscent of the 1967 NFL title game in which Dallas was leading, 17-14, until Green Bay scored a touchdown in the final seconds and won.

For that matter, the Raiders' latest big loss wasn't so different from their previous title game setbacks. Something always happens to keep them from winning. Against the Chiefs in 1969, for example, Lamonica hurt his hand, left the game briefly, then returned and threw nothing but incomplete passes and interceptions. The year before, against the Jets, Lamonica threw what Charlie Smith thought was an incomplete pass to him. But the ball actually was thrown backwards, making it a lateral and a free ball. Smith didn't try for the ball, the Jets' Ralph Baker did, and Oakland had lost its chances to pull out a victory in the final minute.

However, though strange things keep happening to the Raiders and the Cowboys, they refuse to believe they're under some evil spell.

"There's nothing wrong with our system," says Dallas lineman Ralph Neely. "I don't think anybody knows what the trouble is."

"This thing is a lot like shooting dice," adds Pettis Norman. "I've seen somebody hit seven five of six times and then the same guy rolls and craps out five of six times. But the law is just against it happening all the time."

The Raiders feel it can't happen all the time either. They don't want to be put in the same category as the Cowboys, even though their record is equally dismal.

"We're not a Dallas," says Oakland tackle Tom Keating. "I don't feel that losing one game will affect us in others. There will be other big games. We'll be back."

"We'll be back," says Oakland center Jim Otto. "We'll be there again."

Adds Lamonica: "A lot of people say we fold under pressure. This is untrue. We're professional athletes and we have a lot of pride in our own ability. It's just a matter of circumstances, I think. But we're definitely going to be there again and when we are, maybe we can walk away with all the marbles."

But until they do, the Raiders and the Cowboys must live with well-deserved reputations as losers.

Roman Gabriel's Secret Injuries: DID THEY COST THE RAMS A CHAMPIONSHIP?

By Bill Libby

"Everyone plays injured in this game," Gabriel says. "You just grit your teeth and go on." True to this code, Gabe said nothing about the pain in his knee and elbow. But he wasn't the same, and as a result, neither were the Rams

Going into the 1970 season, the Los Angeles Rams were considered by many the strongest team in pro football and the favorites to win the Super Bowl. However, the Rams were surprised by the upstart San Francisco 49ers and were nosed out by one game for the Western Division title.

How did it happen? On the surface, an accusing finger could be pointed at quarterback Roman Gabriel, the NFL's MVP in 1969.

A coach oriented to defense, George Allen asked Gabriel to bear the burden of his Ram offense without fast, breakaway backs or outstanding receivers. Jack Snow was the only quality pass-catcher on the club. All other contenders had more. But Gabriel had carried the load effectively in 1969 with much the same cast. In 1970, however, he seemed to break down.

A loss to Minnesota came late in October and a tie with Atlanta and a setback by New York jarred Los Angeles midway through November. During one stretch in November, Gabriel completed only 30 passes in 83 attempts, far below his usual form. He seemed to be struggling throughout the campaign. He finished eighth in passing in league statistics.

In 1969, Gabriel completed 54 percent of his passes, 217 of 399 for 2,549 yards and 24 touchdowns. He had only seven tosses intercepted. But in 1970, Gabe completed only 51 percent of his passes, 211 of 407 for 2,552 yards and 16 touchdowns. He had twelve intercepted. And beyond statistics, he simply was not as inspiring or awesome as he had been.

Why? Gabriel won't use anything as an excuse, but it was revealed after the season ended that he was going to have surgery performed on his right knee and right elbow. A torn cartilage in his knee was repaired and a piece of loose cartilage was removed from his elbow.

These aches and pains were not made public until the season was over. Gabriel indicates they weren't thought to be as serious as in fact they were. Surgery during the season was considered but rejected. Even a lame Gabriel was considered better than anything else the Rams had. And as long as surgery was being postponed, it was deemed wise to keep the ailments secret from the opposition for fear they would zero in on the quarterback's sore parts.

"I don't use injuries as an excuse," Gabriel

says. "I played in pain. I won't lie about that. But if I couldn't have played, I wouldn't have."

The fact is that he played all season with these injuries. In fact, he played longer than just one season with them. Apparently they go back further than last season. Apparently Gabriel played in pain almost all of 1969, too.

Gabriel reported to training camp in 1969 with a sore arm, suffered, believe it or not, from pulling weeds from his garden. It was a long time before the soreness lessened.

After a Chicago Bear game late that October, his arm began to hurt him again. He said then, "I don't know when it happened. I noticed that it was bothering me just about the right elbow. It was tender and there was a lot of swelling. But the X-rays were negative. I've never had pain like this."

He took pain-killing injections, had the elbow rubbed regularly, wore a bandage to keep the elbow warm and a pad to protect the tender part and kept playing.

Against the Philadelphia Eagles that November, linebacker Ron Porter clotheslined him, according to Gabriel, and he suffered a sprained ankle, a wrenched knee and loosened teeth. Gabriel recalls Porter saying, "Come running at me next time and I'll really get you." Gabe says he just smiled, but inside he was suffering. He got the knee taped and kept going.

A week later, he was caught by a blitz and both his knee and elbow were re-injured. But he could not wear as much bandage or tape as he would have liked because it restricted his movements. "Everyone plays injured in this game," he said with a shrug. "You just grit your teeth and go on."

He did, brilliantly. He won MVP laurels and the Rams came close to winning everything, which is why the narrow loss in Minnesota in the NFL title game hit everyone so hard, especially Gabriel. "It was the lowest I have ever felt in my life," Gabriel said. "I doubt if most people ever have such a low in their professions."

"If they did, would they go on? Would they have a choice? I wanted to quit."

Eventually, he decided to go on playing as the pains of the loss subsided. He was still young and just reaching his peak.

However, in 1970 pre-season practice he injured his knee again. It was determined that he could carry on and he did. Then, during the season, his elbow began to ache again. Again, it was decided he'd carry on. X-rays revealed nothing. Exploratory surgery would sideline him.

The near-miss disappointed all the Rams last season, none more than coach George Allen, now in Washington.

Allen might still be in LA had the Rams gone all the way in 1970. A healthy, strong Gabriel might have led them to the Super Bowl, but he could not. As the quarterback and leader of the club, Gabe was blamed for its failure. He understands this. He says, "I get a lot of the credit for winning, so I have to expect a lot of the blame for losing. But this is really a team game. We all share in the winning and losing."

But Gabriel doesn't like to dwell on past failures. He'd rather look ahead to 1971 under new coach, Tommy Prothro. Prothro is an offensive-minded coach who prefers younger players than Allen did. Swiftly, the former UCLA coach made it clear he would seek to provide Gabriel with better runners and receivers and ask his attack to share equal responsibility with the defense. He indicated he expected everyone to work hard, but realized there was more to life than football and hoped everyone could have fun while still winning.

However, when Prothro called his players to an early off-season meeting to introduce his system, his quarterback was missing. In February, Gabriel was in St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica to have corrective surgery performed.

Originally, only the knee was expected to go under the knife. However, Ram surgeon Dr. Daniel Levinthal decided that while Gabe was on the table getting his knee patched up, exploratory surgery would be performed on his elbow, too. Loose cartilage was discovered, which was removed.

"I think it will really help. He'll be better than new. He should be able to throw the ball a lot better now," Dr. Levinthal concluded later. Although warning that the final results of such surgery to both the elbow and knee would have to wait the patient's recovery and rehabilitation routines, the doctor proclaimed both knifings a "complete success."

Despite a bandaged arm and leg, Gabriel said, "I'm very optimistic that I'll be much the better for it. No one likes to be cut, but it's become part of pro football and sometimes it can't be avoided and has to be faced if you're going to go on and play up to your best."

Nearly half of the Ram team underwent surgery during the off-season. Considering this, one concludes this is indeed the most brutal sport, one which nearly cripples many of its participants. Still, it is big business and has elevated superstars such as Gabriel to great riches and prestige.

Though he will turn 31 at the outset of the new season, the 6-4, 220-pound Gabriel no longer was talking retirement as he entered his 10th professional campaign. "I still want to win a championship," he says. "That's every player's goal in every sport and when you come as close as we have, it's especially inspiring."

Still, Gabriel admits, "It gets harder to go on every year. I have little enthusiasm for pre-season work or pre-season games any more. The monotony of repetitious practice is beginning to wear on me. The day or two after games are terrible and as you get older, they're worse. I find it harder to get up for 14 games in the regular season than I used to."

"I played in pain," Gabe admits of the 1970 season. "I won't lie about that." Shots like Viking Jim Marshall's (above) were to blame.

"He has outstanding credentials," said Gabe of new coach Tommy Prothro (above).

The only deep threat Gabriel has had to work with recently is end Jack Snow (above).

"I sometimes feel drained by the emotional excess of my job. I sometimes look forward to the time when I can leave the pressure and give my family a more normal private life. In sports, the emotional highs are higher and the lows lower than in most professions. You can't ride an emotional roller-coaster forever. Yet, I know I'll miss it badly when it's gone."

He has become the model for modern quarterbacks—big, strong, smart and cool. He resists injuries and plays when hurt. He had a good year last year but perhaps because it was not a great year, the Rams fell just short. It is safe to say his secret injuries cost the team a possible championship because he is so good when sound he doubtless could have propelled the Rams the little further they had to go all the way.

This season may be something else. The brilliant Allen is coaching Washington's Redskins, whom the Rams host in a rare, true grudge match this season. Without prior pro experience but with an impressive college record, Prothro moves in to try his luck with the Rams, who aged so much under Allen some suspect they're on the edge of collapse.

Allen is a stern, demanding coach who sacrifices everything else in life to the winning of football games and asks his aides and players to do the same. Gabriel, who sat on the bench much of his first four years in the league when the Rams were losers, respected the fact that he became a regular and the team became a winner under Allen.

But the team still retains more class performers than most, headed by a gutty quarterback who played well with injuries and pain and presumably will play even better now that he's been patched up and is healthy again. His secret revealed, and the proper repairs made, Roman Gabriel says, "I'm looking forward to the big year this year we might have had last year." Then, smiling wistfully, he adds, "barring injuries, of course."

THE FEUD THAT ALMOST DESTROYED THE BALTIMORE COLTS

By Mike Rathet

Trouble was averted when coach Don Shula left for Miami. "A man needs peace of mind to play football," says Colt star Bubba Smith. "Not with Shula. When he screamed I couldn't function. I didn't want to play for him. What is it, man, when you don't want to play for a coach? Bad scene, man"

Mike Curtis made the key interception and Jim O'Brien kicked the winning field goal in the Baltimore Colts' 1971 Super Bowl victory, and they have received their just accolades from the public.

But in all the assessments made of the Colts' championship, one man has been almost totally overlooked—the man who unwittingly may have had the most to do with the title. That man, strangely enough, is Joe Robbie, the president of the Miami Dolphins, the same Joe Robbie who before last season even started was publicly rebuked for luring coach Don Shula away from Baltimore in a much-publicized tampering case.

What many people don't know is that taking Shula away from the Colts ended a feud that threatened to destroy the club as it headed into the 1970 season. The feud, which has been buried in the avalanche of post-Super Bowl rhetoric, revolved around Shula and his deteriorating relations with the players, including quarterback Johnny Unitas and at least a segment of the club's black stars.

The entire situation stemmed from the Colts' stunning

Gigantic Bubba Smith (No. 78 above) had no use at all for Shula. "I don't think he understands black men," Bubba said. "When things went wrong it seemed to me he picked mostly on the black guys."

Colt owner Carroll Rosenbloom (below) selected Don McCafferty (above) as Shula's successor. He's been pleased with the results.

1968 loss to the New York Jets in Super Bowl III and Shula's subsequent attempt to pull the reins tighter in 1969, which was interpreted by several Colt players as a manifestation of egomania.

Ask Baltimore tight end John Mackey or defensive end Bubba Smith.

"He (Shula) thought he was the biggest thing since bubble gum," Mackey said. "I wasn't sorry to see him go. I understand how it is with a coach, how his livelihood depends on winning. But a man should be consistent."

According to Mackey, Shula changed following the Super Bowl loss to the Jets—most likely because of it.

"We panicked in the Super Bowl," Mackey said. "We got behind and couldn't get anything going. Shula panicked, too. We just weren't the same going into the 1969 season. Everything changes when you lose. We weren't used to it and that goes for the coaches, too."

"Shula became more involved, more of a dictator. In the early years we were winners and it was more of a team thing. That year it was more Shula."

That, Mackey points out, was reflected in Shula's decision to call plays for Unitas, provoking at least one jawing session between coach and quarterback that was witnessed by the entire club.

Bubba remembers that vividly. During one 1969 game, Bubba watched intently as Shula screamed and ranted on the sidelines, the situation becoming so intolerable to some of the older players that they went over to argue with the coach.

One of those Colts, according to Bubba, was Unitas, who held out the ball to Shula and asked, "Do you want to be quarterback?"

"Calling plays was a good idea when we had Earl Morrall in there in '68 after John was hurt," Mackey said, "but it wasn't so with Unitas. John is the kind of quarterback who calls his own plays. Shula justified what he did by saying Unitas needed the help after his layoff."

"But with Shula calling the shots, John wasn't free to wheel and deal, to be John Unitas. I can't say it actually cost us ball games; all I can say is that with John calling his own game it might have been different."

It also might have been different, according to Bubba, if Shula had been able to handle the black players differently.

"I don't think he understands black men," Bubba said. "Me, for instance. I can't function right when someone is always yelling in my ear. When things went wrong it seemed to me he picked mostly on the black guys."

"If the team was having trouble, he'd come over to me or John Mackey or some other black player and ask us to try harder. No one has to tell me or Mackey to put out more in a game. That's darn insulting."

"And when Mackey, an all-pro, got hurt, Shula started riding him. Geez, the reason John got hurt was that Shula put him at fullback in pre-season."

"A man needs peace of mind to play football. Not with Shula. When he screamed I couldn't function. I didn't want to play for him. What is it, man, when you don't want to play for a coach? Bad scene, man."

Even Unitas, who rarely reveals his innermost thoughts, added to the words of the more outspoken Shula detractors with a subtle remark praising the new atmosphere that had been brought in by Shula's successor, Don McCafferty.

"He doesn't shout and scream," said Unitas. "And this is what you need to do—be able to look at football objectively without getting carried away emotionally."

While that was the strongest statement Unitas made publicly, Bubba reveals the quarterback took a tougher stance prior to the Colts' game for the American Conference championship against Oakland last season. Unitas stood up in the locker room and made a rare speech.

"Unitas told us how we had to win that game because if we didn't Mac might lose his job and we'd had it pretty good," Bubba recalls. "John reminded us that if Mac got fired we might have a new man come in who'd start yelling at us all over again."

That Unitas and Shula couldn't get along was obvious from a statement

Tight end John Mackey saw a change in Shula after the Colts' Super Bowl '69 loss.

Unitas got so mad at Shula once he gave him the ball and asked if he wanted to play QB.

Pete Rozelle gave the Colts Miami's top draft choice for tampering with Shula's contract.

made by Colts' owner Carroll Rosenbloom when he discussed Unitas' attitude before the Super Bowl.

"John is relaxed now," Rosenbloom said. "He has a coach he can live with. The other guy (Shula) made a basket case out of him."

It is almost inconceivable to believe that Shula could change so drastically in one year, that what was acceptable during the Colts' 1968 run for the title was not acceptable during the nosedive of 1969.

What is more likely is that Shula remained the same—and the Colts' willingness to accept his methods rose and fell in direct proportion to the amount of success they attained. The best example of this is the tolerance—even fondness—the Green Bay Packers developed for Vince Lombardi's tyranny during their greatest years.

Be that as it may, 1969 was, as Bubba pointed out, a bad scene for the Colts. They didn't plummet to the depths of the National Football League, but they were unable to repeat as champions, falling off to an 8-5-1 record.

And despite the feud that was simmering under the surface, there still was considerable respect for Shula's coaching ability, reflected in an overall won-lost record of 71-23-4 at the end of the 1969 season.

Mackey and Smith admitted as much, even after Shula was gone.

"Shula, basically, is a great coach and will be that at Miami," Mackey volunteered. And Smith, while pointing out, "I don't like him personally," added frankly, "but he's a darn good coach. He knows his stuff."

Owners don't let coaches like that get away, and it's unlikely that Rosenbloom would have thought of making a change, which would have sent the Colts into the 1970 season with Shula—and the feud.

It undoubtedly would have made any run at the title impossible. Then Robbie intervened.

Looking around for a coach to replace George Wilson after a 3-10-1 1969 performance by the Dolphins, Robbie went after Shula and got him with a contract reportedly worth $70,000 per year over five years, plus a percentage of the club.

Robbie, however, had made his first contact with Shula in a somewhat clandestine fashion through a third party, forsaking the NFL protocol by not directly asking Rosenbloom for permission to negotiate with Shula.

The charges and counter-charges flew even while Shula moved south to take over the Dolphins, and didn't even abate when Commissioner Pete Rozelle ruled Miami had been guilty of tampering and awarded the Colts the Dolphins' No. 1 draft choice for the violation. It didn't abate because Rosenbloom seemed determined to keep a feud going between the Dolphins and Colts, verbally blasting Shula on several occasions.

The most publicized incident occurred when the Colts and Dolphins met for the first time at Baltimore's Memorial Stadium. Shula took it on the nose three times that day—a 92-page program made no mention of him, the Colts drubbed the Dolphins, 35-0, and Rosenbloom was particularly uncomplimentary when asked about the result after the game.

"I couldn't believe my eyes," Rosenbloom said. "I thought they would be better coached. Former coach George Wilson and personnel director Joe Thomas put together a terrific team. There isn't a coach in the league who wouldn't like to have his material."

That Rosenbloom's feelings about Shula had aroused the Colts, even as they exulted in working for McCafferty, was evident from what was said by Bubba Smith before the game and by the tone of the dressing room after the game.

"Sure, most of the rivalry has been between the front office people," Bubba said, "but it's filtered down to the players, to me and quite a few of the other guys. I want to beat him. I want to beat him bad."

When the Colts did, they trooped into a deliriously happy dressing room and voted a game ball to Rosenbloom, presented by Unitas.

"The men thought Mr. Rosenbloom took a lot of bull all week," said Unitas. "They came to me and I was happy to go along with them."

"I've gotten game balls before," the Colt owner said, "but this was about as sweet a one as I ever received."

That undoubtedly was true, for Rosenbloom had gotten vindication against a coach he considered a turncoat. It may or may not be a coincidence, but when the Colts reached the Super Bowl they almost talked as a chorus about the different attitude on the 1970 club and the one that had faced the Jets two years before under Shula.

Mackey, Smith, Unitas and even McCafferty spoke about the "carnival atmosphere" that had pervaded the camp before the clash with the Jets, contributing to a situation in which they were unable to prepare properly for the game. And Rosenbloom did nothing to lessen the sting of the memory of that defeat, which was sustained under Shula.

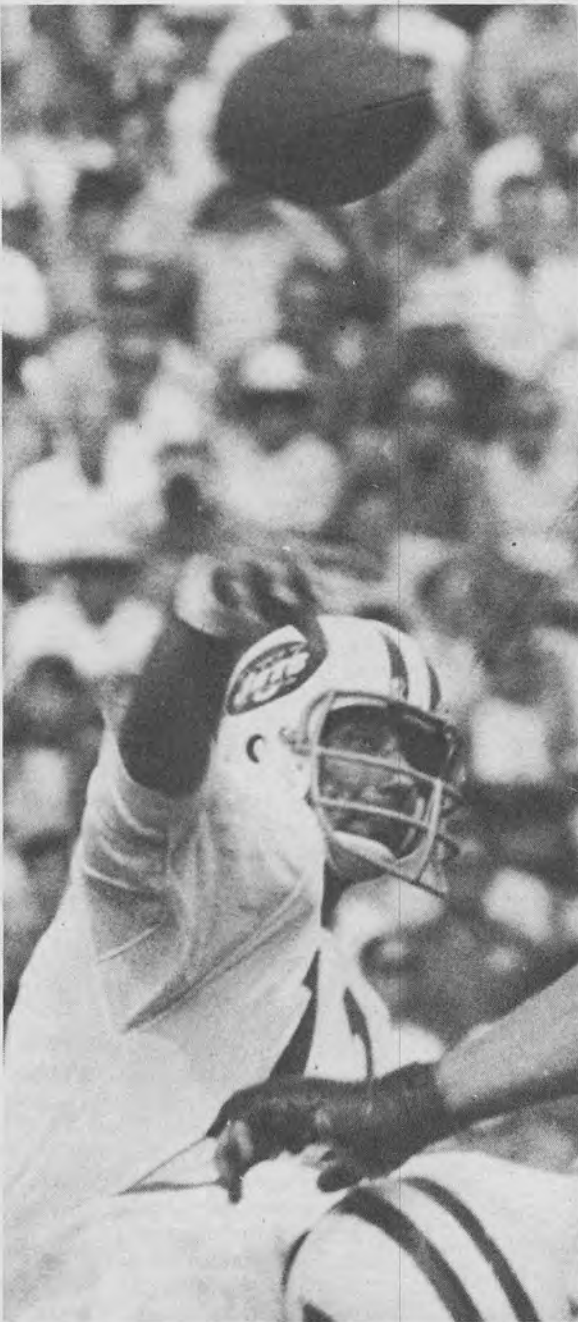

"That Baltimore team," Rosenbloom said over and over again, "was the finest I've ever seen."

But when the Colts went out and beat the Dallas Cowboys last year, almost everyone forgot the disappointment of 1968, even the Colts. They also forgot about the role Joe Robbie had played in the victory, first by stopping the growing feud on the Colts by signing Shula, and second, in so doing, by providing a psychological springboard from which to jump to the top of the pro football world.

In the annals of the NFL it should at least be recognized with a footnote.

JOHN BRODIE

JOE NAMATH

SONNY JURGENSEN

NAMATH... BRODIE... JURGENSEN ...

EXCLUSIVE RATINGS OF THE TOP QUARTERBACKS

By the Editors

The game's most glamorous position produces the most violent debates about who is best. Our list, based upon opinions from the pros themselves, holds a few surprises.

For the past several seasons, there has been a growing awareness of the fact that Sonny Jurgensen of the Washington Redskins just may be the best quarterback in National Football League history.

The recognition has been a long time coming.

For years and years Johnny Unitas and Bart Starr took so much of the spotlight there was hardly any left to shine on anyone else. The Jurgensen paunch, a bulging middle that caused a smile rather than a thoughtful assessment of skills, didn't help Sonny's cause, either.

But all that seemed to change with the coming of Vince Lombardi to Washington. Lombardi carried with him his own spotlight and shared it with Jurgensen, suggesting that the guy with the paunch might be even a better quarterback than his peers, Unitas and Starr. "Sonny Jurgensen is a great, great quarterback," Lombardi said. "He may be the best this league has ever seen."

And suddenly everyone seemed to take another look and nod in agreement. Now Lombardi is gone, but Jurgensen unquestionably stands as the No. 1 quarterback in the NFL going into the 1971 season, a role assigned him by virtually every knowledgeable league source in a survey conducted by the editors of Pro and College Football Sports Stars of 1971.

The survey rated the top 15 NFL quarterbacks in this order:

1. Sonny Jurgensen, Washington Redskins.
2. Joe Namath, New York Jets.

3. John Brodie, San Francisco 49ers.
4. Daryle Lamonia, Oakland Raiders.
5. Roman Gabriel, Los Angeles Rams.
6. Bob Griese, Miami Dolphins.
7. Fran Tarkenton, New York Giants.
8. Len Dawson, Kansas City Chiefs.
9. John Hadl, San Diego Chargers.
10. Johnny Unitas, Baltimore Colts.
11. Bart Starr, Green Bay Packers.
12. Greg Landry, Detroit Lions.
13. Bill Nelsen, Cleveland Browns.
14. Dennis Shaw, Buffalo Bills.
15. Terry Bradshaw, Pittsburgh Steelers

The omissions are, in several cases, as noteworthy as those who made the ratings. Missing are Joe Kapp of the Boston Patriots, the hero of Minnesota's 1969 champions; Craig Morton of the Dallas Cowboys, and either of the Vikings' current quarterbacks—Gary Cuozzo or Norm Snead.

Here's a closer look at 15 who made it:

JURGENSEN: One or two reservations were expressed because of rumors that Jurgensen, who will be 37 when this season starts, may have an ailing arm. But those reservations were squelched by Sonny's 1970 statistics—a 59.9 completion percentage, 23 touchdown passes, 2,354 total yards and just 10 interceptions in 337 attempts.

Hardly the prototype for today's quarterbacks since he stands just an even six feet, Jurgensen's also not a picture passer, delivering the ball slightly sidearmed. But he overcomes any problems by his almost unbelievable accuracy and his uncanny ability to successfully judge the proper instant ball should meet receiver—whatever the pattern, short or deep, and whatever the throw required, soft or hard.

NAMATH: No one questions Namath's ability, only his discipline and dedication. Coming off a broken wrist makes him something of a question mark, but that was overridden by his obvious assets once he gets his hands on the ball. He can do it all—throw long with unfailing accuracy, pick apart a zone and beat a blitz with sometimes uncanny ease.

The chief assets from which Namath's passes flow are a quick release, the ability to throw long and on target even while off balance, and a temperament that breeds confidence. His detractors feel that confidence needs disciplining in that Namath has a tendency to feel he can connect even if the defenses are stacked against him, resulting in needless interceptions.

BRODIE: Finally received the recognition long denied him when he led the 49ers to the Western title in the National Conference last season and led the league in passing. He threw for 2,941 yards, 24 touchdowns, a 59 percent completion average and an impressive 2.6 interception percentage.

Brodie, going into his 15th pro season, has a release rated virtually the equal of Namath's, an ability to throw the pass the situation dictates that may rate above Jurgensen's and a confidence in his ability no 22

Daryle Lamonia (throwing over Jet Jerry Philbin above) ranked fourth. The only criticism of the fine Oakland quarterback is that he tries to force the deep pass too often.

Miami quarterback Bob Griese ranked fifth. The acquisition of wide receiver Paul Warfield from Cleveland helped Griese erase the rap that he couldn't throw the long one well.

less than either. But there still remains one rap—that he has difficulty reading zone defenses. It obviously cost him a higher spot in the ratings.

LAMONICA: Tremendously strong at 6-3 and 215 pounds, Lamonia directs a system whose deep-throw philosophy coincides with his own and is reflected by his passing leadership of the AFC in yards gained (2,516) and touchdowns (22). He has the arm to throw long and may, in fact, by the most spectacular deep-thrower around.

But two other assets—confidence and aggressiveness—often are exaggerated as to become liabilities and leave him a notch below the big three in the ratings. That confidence and aggressiveness—called stubbornness and foolishness by his detractors—makes him force the deep pass unsuccessfully when the short pass is open.

GABRIEL: At 6-4 and 220 pounds, Gabriel possesses even greater physical attributes than Lamonia and far fewer streaks of stubbornness. But while he too throws long well, he does not have a quick release. It's a costly fault at times, and deprives him of a higher rating.

Gabriel's biggest asset is his physical stature, enabling him to set up closer to the line of scrimmage than most and giving him a better view over the heads of opposing linemen. Extremely dedicated and a leader to whom the Rams respond, he may lack the total confidence in himself that comes with winning the big one—which he has not yet accomplished.

GRIESE: There are some who would rate Griese ahead of Gabriel because his potential may be greater. He muffled almost all his detractors last year when he led the AFC with a 58.0 completion percentage and 8.24 yards gained every pass. At 6-1 and 190 pounds, he is agile enough to scramble out of trouble.

Griese's scrambling, however, is more restricted than that of Fran Tarkenton's, making it an asset rather than a liability in the opinion of many. But there still are times when he runs when he shouldn't. He did erase a can't-throw-deep rap when he got a receiver who could go deep (Paul Warfield) and hit him there consistently.

TARKENTON: Rated behind Griese because his scrambling is both a necessity and a frill that he enjoys. At an even six foot, he is not tall and his arm is not strong, making scrambling a necessary adjunct for any attempt to throw long. Even with that he is erratic throwing Tarkenton, however, isn't all debits. He is an excellent medium range passer, deep. He also enjoys scrambling, sometimes missing an open receiver. his scrambling does aid and abet the Giants' attack at times and he is a leader, able to arouse, particularly when things begin to fall into place. The 1970 season was his best. He hit 56.3 percent of his passes for 2,777 yards and 19 touchdowns.

DAWSON: A heady guy who handles pressure well, Dawson turns that asset into the key to his success since he does not have a strong arm. The moving pocket employed by the Chiefs is a must, some say, because Dawson must roll out to get enough stuff on the ball to hit his man. But he is as accurate as anyone, including Jurgensen.

Dawson is thoroughly schooled in coach Hank Stram's multiple offense and runs it exceptionally well, particularly the running game. Over the last two years he has had trouble with his knees, and that may become a greater liability with each successive season. But he stays up there with the best by not trying to do what he can't and making certain he succeeds at what he does best.

HADL: An enigma to most, since there does not seem to be any flaw that would account for his erratic streaks. Ranked No. 2 in the AFC in 1970 when he gained 2,388 yards and tied Lamonica's 22 touchdown tosses, he nevertheless failed to make the top ten in completion percentage with a weak 49.5 mark.

Hadl is so effective at times it seems he can do it all. But he's so bad at other times there are those who shake their heads in bewilderment. But the weight of evidence suggests he's an underrated passer and a top field general, whose inconsistencies may be as much the fault of an erratic team as his own.

UNITAS: At 37 with a torn Achilles tendon, his age has become a major factor and, like Starr, he has slid down the ratings. He didn't have overly impressive statistics in 1970 when he completed 51.7 percent of his passes for 2,213 yards and only 14 touchdowns, but he did take the Colts to the Super Bowl with his heady play-calling and leadership.

No longer able to throw deep as effectively as he once did, Unitas still is feared because he has made the adjustments required by an aching and aging wing, patiently moving along with the short stuff with his amazing talent for reading defenses and sensing when he should squeeze another long one out of his arm.

STARR: He used to be able to do it all except throw long with the consistency of a Namath, but he has dropped from the top ten after several seasons of injuries that have curtailed his effectiveness. Age also has become a factor, and he rates this high only on his ability to pick apart a defense. Healthy, he still is a threat.

LANDRY: Jumped into the ratings off a tremendous last half of the season when he completed 83 of 136 passes for 1,072 yards and nine touchdowns. Can throw long, and has exceptional running ability that he puts to good use. Has a tendency to overemphasize one phase or the other, rather than seeking a balanced attack. But he will learn.

NELSEN: Tremendous respect surfaced in the survey for Nelsen, whose career could crumble on ailing knees. Still, he did complete passes for 2,156 yards and 16 touchdowns last season despite all his problems, and he is considered an exceptional leader. Likely will face a challenge from Mike Phipps for his job this year.

SHAW: There are those who feel that Bradshaw has greater potential than Shaw, but Shaw advanced more as a rookie, completing 55.5 percent of his passes for 2,507 yards. He is a good leader and directs the running game well, but the ball he throws has a tendency to float. He will have to learn to drill it in there.

BRADSHAW: Has more equipment than Shaw but had more difficulty putting it together his rookie year. Wouldn't have made the top 15 if Greg Cook of Cincinnati hadn't undergone second arm operation. There are those who mention Bradshaw in the same breath as Namath, but have taken a wait-and-see attitude off his 1970 season. ▲

NORM SNEAD

"THE DAY MY TEAMMATE WAS SHOT!"

By Ray Didinger

NATE RAMSEY

Norm Snead's head, knees and passing arm ached, and he had a middle ear infection that distorted his sense of balance. When a fan began to berate him on the street, he figured his day was complete... until he learned that someone had just put a bullet hole in teammate Nate Ramsey's chest

Norm Snead wasn't in the mood for a party. His neck hurt, his back ached and it felt like the Jefferson Airplane had crash-landed right between his ears. Norman Snead had never had a headache like this one before.

It was a pro football Monday, one of those putting-yourself-back-together-again days that always start the week off. But this Monday, December 13, 1970, was tougher than most. Norm Snead had lived through 10 years of pro football Mondays, but this time he felt like that streak was in danger.

"I feel lousy," Snead told his wife Susie. "Really lousy, I'm going to see the doctor."

Every time the Eagle quarterback thought about the previous day's game, the bass drum behind his eyes would pick up the tempo. Philadelphia had stumbled through another dismal week, losing to the Washington Redskins, 24-6, and the Eagles' record sank to 2-10-1.

But that's all textbook stuff. That defeat by addition and subtraction. If you think those won-loss numbers look bad, you should have seen the Eagles' lair in person that Sunday. They haven't invented the numbers that can tell you how Norman Snead looked after the Redskins finished with him. He sat in front of his locker below D. C. Stadium with his head hanging between his knees. "He's so dizzy he can barely stand up," one man said. "He almost fainted at halftime. He started to go and one of the guys grabbed him before he fell."

The 6-4 quarterback went into the game with a severe infection in his middle ear that distorted his sense of balance. This, combined with his 20/200 vision in one eye, made him a good bet to be the first quarterback ever to complete a pass to the Washington Monument.

The Eagles started Snead anyway—which tells you something about their depth at quarterback—and in the second quarter, linebacker Chris Hanburger blitzed him from his extensive blind side. Hanburger had a 15-yard running start when he buried his gold helmet in the middle of Snead's back. The quarterback's head snapped back violently as Hanburger slammed him to the ground, stunning the quarterback.

Snead crawled back to his feet, rubbing his neck and rolling his head from side to side. No one knew it at the time, but he had suffered a whiplash from the jarring impact, worsening his inner ear.

At halftime, the numbness almost caused him to collapse, but he laid down for several minutes and said he was all right. He played the third quarter but was replaced by rookie Rick Arrington for the final 15 minutes.

If the Eagles had won, people would have said Snead was heroic. But the Eagles lost, so they told him to go home and take two aspirins every four hours.

Now it was the next morning and Snead's head was still buzzing. His wife reminded him the Eagles' team party was to be held that night in a suburban country club. The quarterback nodded painfully.

He wasn't in the mood for a party. He already had one giant hangover—another one could be fatal.

"But I guess I should go," he said.

His wife accompanied him when he visited the doctor, who helped ease the discomfort of the neck and head injuries. The bad vision, the sore passing arm and two bad knees had been there all season so he didn't even bother discussing them.

Mr. and Mrs. Snead then started browsing around downtown Philadelphia, trying hard to be just another married couple. For a few blocks, they blended in with the crowds of shoppers moving between department stores with their arms filled with brightly-wrapped packages. Snead was starting to feel better about life.

They laughed and pointed to all the lights and decorations in every shop window. Norman Snead was taking a vacation from last place. He and Susie were looking at a toy display near 23rd and Walnut when Sunday's realities finally found him again.

"Hey, it's Snead," a short, fat-faced guy yelled. "That's Norm Snead. What a bum, what a creep."

Snead tried to ignore the insults. How would it look for him to go around decking fat, middle-aged men two weeks before Christmas? The fans were already booing him off the field. What would they do to him Sunday if he knocked the teeth out of some overweight season ticket holder?

"Forget it," Snead thought to himself. "It's not worth it."

But the man didn't want to forget it. He came up and started shouting right in Snead's face while Susie stood there, embarrassed. The back of Snead's neck became a dark red but he kept his mouth shut.

"If I was as big as you, you creep, I'd show you what I think of you and the Eagles," said short fat-face.

Finally, Snead's patience ran out.

"Look, if you feel this way, you just come to Sunday's game and shout all of this crap down at me then," he said. "You can boo me, curse me, do anything you want and I couldn't care less. But don't start up with me here. I'm with my wife and this is my private life. You're intruding and I don't appreciate it. Now take off."

The guy went away mumbling and Snead suddenly didn't feel like looking at Christmas decorations any more. He had to stop in at the Eagle offices, so he and his wife climbed in their station wagon and began driving back toward Market Street.

They had only gone about three blocks when Snead noticed a big crowd gathered around several smashed-up cars. He could see this one man running around the sidewalk, screaming and flailing his arms. Suddenly, the man began beating his head against the side of a building.

Snead stopped the car and jumped out. Several passers-by tried to grab the man but he pulled away from them. Snead wrapped his arms around the man and began wrestling with him while a few on-lookers joined in. After a few minutes, the police arrived and subdued the man, loading him in their wagon.

"He was crazy, out of his mind," a woman who had seen the whole incident told police. "He smashed his car into all these other cars on the block and then rushed out and began bashing his head against that wall."

Snead just drifted back to his station wagon, still a little shaken by the last half-hour. He continued his drive to the Eagles' office, assuming there couldn't be anything more horrible there than the films of the Redskin game.

He walked into the office of general manager Pete Retzlaff just as the desk telephone rang. Retzlaff answered and a moment later, Snead was in the middle of another crisis.

"What? What?" Retzlaff blurted into the phone. "Are you sure it's him? Well, how is he? I mean, will he live? He's where? Okay, we'll be right over."

Retzlaff looked up, an expression of disbelief clouding his face. "Norm, Nate's been shot," he said.

"It can't be," Snead thought. "No, this is too much."

Nate was Nate Ramsey, the Eagles' defensive captain and strong safety, an underrated eight-year NFL veteran. Ramsey is 6-1 and weighs 200 pounds. He is a fierce tackler with great strength. Now that strength would be important.

Snead rushed over to Philadelphia's Misericordia Hospital where Ramsey had been delivered by the Police Emergency wagon. No one knew quite what happened except that Nate Ramsey now had a bullet in his chest.

As Snead pushed through the accident ward's double doors, cameramen closed in on him from both sides of the narrow corridor. The motors on their cameras whirled and each man held up an arc of lights that sent glare bouncing off the tile walls.

"How is he?" Snead asked Dr. James Nixon, the team physician.

"His condition is listed as critical but he'll make it," Dr. Nixon said. "The bullet missed all the vital organs and is just lodged in there. He's lost a lot of blood and we'll have to wait awhile before we go in to take it out, but he'll be all right."

It was almost 7 p.m. and for the first time that day, Snead felt lucky. He walked over to talk to Harry Wilson, a former Eagle halfback whose career was ended by two fragile legs. Wilson remained close to the team because the players respected the former Nebraska All-America's guts. Ramsey was perhaps his closest friend.

"How did it happen?" Snead asked.

"I was with him right before," Wilson whispered. "I always met Nate on Mondays at a bar down on 52nd Street (a notorious section of Philadelphia called 'The Strip') and we'd just shoot the breeze about the game. I met him there, same as always. There wasn't anybody else in the place except some old wino at the end of the bar. Nate said he wanted to go to another bar down the street and I said, 'Okay.'"

"I told Nate I wanted to stop in a store along the way and buy some things and Nate said he'd meet me there. A few minutes after I walked in the store, I saw a crowd gathering. I ran into the bar next door and Nate was on the floor, bleeding. He told me some guy just walked up and shot him."

Snead walked back to the room where Ramsey had been moved and stood outside. At the other end of the corridor were two curiosity-seekers who heard about the shooting and were snooping around to see what was happening.

"Norm Snead," one of them said to the other. "That's Norm Snead."

"Which one?"

"The tall one by the door in the trench coat, hands in the pockets . . . See him?"

The conversation echoed off the hard hospital floor and walls and Snead heard every word. He rolled up his eyes, wondering when this horrible day would be over. A few feet away, Ramsey's wife Desiree cried outside her husband's room.

"I've never been through any series of things like this," he said. "This whole season and this day have been just so . . . incredible, I guess."

But the day wasn't over. There was the annual party. Snead fumbled through his keys until he came up with the one to open his station wagon door.

"It's too late to call it off," he said. "Some people are coming in from a long way off so we'll just have to go through with it. I don't think anyone will stay too late but I suppose I've got to show."

Norman Snead started his car and headed for the country club. But he just wasn't in the mood for a party.

Six weeks later, Nate Ramsey was home with his wife, well on his way to recovery. Norman Snead was home with his wife, well on his way to the Minnesota Vikings after a trade for four draft picks and an offensive lineman. Maybe luck was changing for both of them. ▲

HOW TED VERNON AVERAGES $20,000 WORKING 6 MONTHS A YEAR

NO COLLEGE! NO SELLING!
NO EXPERIENCE!

When Ted Vernon* walked to a mailbox that day in his small home town, the things he wanted seemed far beyond his reach. Like lots more money, freedom from his dead-end job, independence and security, a new future.

Chances looked dim. Ted had no college. His only experience was his old job. And he was already past 40.

Yet, when Ted Vernon mailed his envelope, everything he dreamed of suddenly became possible. It was the single most profitable act of his life. Yet all he did was mail a coupon like the one at the bottom of this page.

Free book put Ted on road to big income

The coupon brought Ted the same fascinating Free Book you can have in just a few days. It's an eye opener! It tells the story of a world of opportunity all around you in the booming Accident Investigation field.

It was all new to Ted. He'd hardly even heard of Accident Investigation. Yet Ted Vernon felt he had found his perfect opportunity.

And he had! Soon Ted was forging ahead fast in his new exciting career. His first full year he made $14,768.72. Since then he's averaging $20,000 working about six months a year. The rest of the time he relaxes and takes it easy.

He learned secrets of success in 30 minutes

Ted skimmed through Universal's Free Book in 30 minutes and changed his life. He learned many money-making facts! But the three big points that headed Ted to his success are:

- Accident Investigation is a $19 billion dollar industry booming to new heights every year. It's safe from layoff, recessions and automation—accidents continue no matter what.
- More men are urgently needed to investigate some 22 million accidents each year.
- For more than 20 years, Universal's training-by-mail has been the path to success for thousands of men in this high-pay field.

So there it was—the opportunity of a lifetime. Ted grabbed it—fast. He enrolled for Universal's by-mail training at the mere cost of cigarette money.

It was surprisingly easy. Ted simply studied his brief, interesting lessons at home in his spare time, at his own pace. He didn't risk a single paycheck because he kept right on with his old job until he could start making money quickly in Accident Investigation.

Ted Vernon's income is unusually high and not typical of the industry. He's a busy specialist in storm loss adjusting. But it does show the big potential in this great field even for men with no college and no experience. Read these reports from recent Universal students:

"My income has more than doubled."

—J. T. Woodruff of Louisiana.

"Thanks to you, I was contacted by 17 top companies."

—Donald Doris of Illinois.

"My income averages $1,200 to $2,000 a month."

—Ed Crouch of California.

"A raise every three months for the next two years, plus new car and expense account."

—Oscar Singletary of Georgia.

"My salary has increased by 63%."

—Marcel Roy, Canada.

THE BEST FOOTBALL GAME CANNOT BE PURCHASED IN A RETAIL STORE!

PASSING ★ RUNNING ★ KICKING ★ DEFENSE ★ COACHING

■ Season after season, STRAT-O-MATIC PRO FOOTBALL has been sold to thousands of football fans exclusively through the mail. But why you ask? Each year our football game is totally revised to reflect precisely the most up-to-date pro football statistics.

STRAT-O-MATIC offers such a current authentic reproduction of pro-football and such a wide selection of games and individual team combinations, that it is impossible for a retail store to supply our fans.

In business since 1961, the quality and reliability of STRAT-O-MATIC PRO FOOTBALL speaks for itself in the fact that we have continued to sell out all our previous editions.

In our 1971-1972 edition, STRAT-O-MATIC presents you once again with the finest in pro football realism. The passing, running, kicking and defensive play of 1,000 pro football players is astonishingly reproduced from the stadium into your home.

Only individual player cards truly reflect each offensive player's real-life characteristics . . . and STRAT-O-MATIC HAS IT! Other games use a team rating system in lieu of individual player cards, but this method fails to capture the excitement and talents of the players. In Strat-O-Matic, both the stars and the second stringers will perform according to their true abilities.

Each player's strengths and weaknesses are measured in STRAT-O-MATIC. For example, a quarterback who has a high pass completion record but does not throw a good long pass will function exactly the same way in STRAT-O-MATIC. A halfback who has a good yard per carry average but fails to pick up the "tough yardage" will perform similarly in STRAT-O-MATIC.

STRAT-O-MATIC is actually two games in one . . . an elementary game for 11 to 16 year olds and an advanced game for adults. The elementary version is EASY and EXCITING to play. The advanced version includes a never-before visual dimension found in no other statistically oriented football game. You set up and maneuver your defenses on a colorful playing board, enabling both coaches to see the strengths and weaknesses of their defenses. This dimension allows you to not only call a blitz but to see it in action! More strategy moves are possible with Strat-O-Matic than any other football game. Without hesitation, we recommend STRAT-O-MATIC PRO FOOTBALL'S 1971-1972 edition to be without equal.

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

College Football Editor

The AP college football editor since 1969, he has made the wire service's All-America selections for the past two years and its Little All-America selections for the past three. He won the Eastern College Athletic Association sports information directors' award for outstanding coverage of college sports, and in December, 1969, he was elected to a two-year term as president of the Football Writers Association of New York.)

Would you believe SYRACUSE for the Lambert Trophy, symbolic of the top team in the East?

A year ago there was some doubt that Syracuse would even be able to play football following a dispute between the coaching staff and eight black athletes who boycotted the team. The incident tore the squad apart and policemen ringed Archbold Stadium for the home opener. Ex-Orange star Dave Meggysey's book didn't help, either.

The Orangemen dropped their first three games and were outscored, 100-29. But coach Ben Schwartzwalder hasn't had a losing season since 1949, his first year at the helm, and he didn't have one in 1970. Syracuse turned things around, won six of its last seven games, including a 24-7 shocker over Penn State, and goes into 1971 with great optimism.

"We could be great," says a source close to the team, citing the 17 starters among 32 returning lettermen. There are all-star candidates galore like defensive tackle Joe Ehrmann (watch how high he goes in the next pro draft), middle guard Ted Lachowicz, safety Tom Myers, running backs Marty Januskiewicz and Roger Praetorius and offensive tackle Don Yochum.

There's experience everywhere but at split end and, unfortunately, quarterback. At the former spot, sophomores Brian Hambleton, Dick Denny and Gary Sweat are bidding to replace Tony Gabriel, who set Syracuse pass-catching records. At quarterback, holdover backups Bob Woodruff and Frank Ruggiero and sophomores Tom Bilko (son of former big league baseball player Steve) and David King will get a long look, but the eventual winner could be another soph, Chuck Smyrl. A 6-3, 210-pounder, Smyrl broke his hand before the freshman opener and didn't play at all. He can, however, run and throw.

In addition, two of the blacks involved in last year's fuss—Greg Allen, the regular wingback in 1969, and John Lobon, a linebacker-defensive end—indicated they planned to report for spring practice.

PENN STATE, trying for an unprecedented fourth consecutive Lambert, finished second to Dartmouth last fall. The Nittany Lions came on strong in the second half of the season, winning their last five games to finish at 7-3. The winning streak started when coach Joe Paterno junked the spread offense he put in last fall and returned to the tight formation with which Penn State rolled to perfect seasons in 1968 and 1969.

Paterno also inserted sophomore John Hufnagel at quarterback and he returns, along with Lydell Mitchell and Franco Harris, as good a 1-2 running punch as there is in the country. Paterno must replace most of the offensive line and the entire secondary, although the linebacking strength is there in Charlie Zapiec, Gary Gray and John Skorupan.

"We have some holes to fill," admits Paterno, "but we also have some fine talent coming back. We came on very strong last year and by the end of the season I thought we were a good football team. I'm optimistic by nature, but a half-dozen or so sophomores have to come through."

Defense will be the key at BOSTON COLLEGE, which, according to coach Joe Yukica, "lost some very important people at the skilled offensive positions," namely quarterback Frank Harris and running back Fred Willis, record-breakers both.

Holdover Ray Rippman, a pretty good runner and passer, and sophomore Gary Marangi will fight to replace Harris while Tom Bougus and Steve Macinsky are the candidates to succeed Willis. The return of Bill Thomas, out much of 1970 with a shoulder separation, will help the running game. Center Kent Andiorio will anchor the line.

Only two starters were lost on defense and the veterans include top-flight players like backs Steve Kirchner and Gary Hudson, linebacker Kevin Clemente and tackle Jeff Yeates.

At VILLANOVA, coach Lou Ferry is "pretty optimistic" thanks to "a lot of returnees, a little more depth and some good sophomores." Top among the vets is wide receiver Mike Siani, who ranked fourth nationally in receptions a year ago and gained more pass-catching yardage than any other major collegian.

The offense, which set 10 season and seven game records, also returns tackle Jack Kasper, running back John Heim and quarterback Daryl Woodring. Linebacker John Babinecz and tackle Ernie Messmer are the defensive stars. Seven or eight newcomers are expected to push for starting roles. The only sour note is the schedule, which starts off with road games against Maryland and Toledo and also takes the Wildcats to Delaware, Boston College and Tampa.

PITT's 1970 press guide said, "The Pitt Panther Is Back." The Panthers lost their opener, then won five in a row before the injury jinx struck. Still, the 5-5 record brought them most of the way back after three straight 1-9 disasters.

More improvement is the target in coach Carl DePasqua's second year, but the Panthers face a schedule that starts them with UCLA and Oklahoma and later features Notre Dame, Syracuse and Penn State. Again, Pitt must stay healthy. DePasqua has installed the triple option and sophomore quarterback Bob Medwid, who runs it well, will push holdovers John Hogan and Dave Havern.

Replacements must be found for running backs Dennis Ferris and Tony Esposito, but John Simpson heads three interior line regulars and the receivers are there in Steve Moyer, Joel Klimek, Doug Ginden and sophomore Lance Wall. The key man on defense is linebacker Ralph Cindrich, sidelined for the season in the 1970 opener. He missed spring drills, too. Jack Dykes, also hurt in an early game, will likely move from end to middle guard as DePasqua switches to a five-man front.

Ex-Navy coach Wayne Hardin came back to the coaching ranks, guided TEMPLE to a 7-3 record and hopes to do better with the likes of guard Bill Singleary, defensive ends Harold Sutton and Pat Barrett, tackle Don Carden, fullback Paul Loughran and split end Bob Thornton. If Doug Shobert, Frank DiMaggio or sophomore Marty Ginestra can do the job at quarterback, the Owls could fly high. The defensive unit is back intact, with tackle Joe Sieminski, Sutton, Barrett and Carden.

Few teams around lost more heavily to graduation than WEST VIRGINIA. The Mountaineers must replace 16 starters, including All-America tight end (and part-time fullback) Jim Braxton, quarterback Mike Sherwood, running backs Bob Gresham and Eddie Williams and linebacker Dale Farley. Heading the returnees are Pete Wood, who rushed for 713 yards and a 5.4 average; split ends Chris Potts and Nate Stephens, who caught 47 passes between them; and guard B. C. Williams. Bernie Galiffa, a fine passer, is the likely quarterback.

It was a long off-season for ARMY, although perhaps not as long as the dismal 1-9-1 season the Cadets suffered through, capped by an 11-7 loss to Navy. Coach Tom Cahill, desperately seeking some outside speed, was toying with flanker Bob Hines and linebacker Gary Topping (9.8 speed) as running backs, although holdovers Ray Ritacco and Bruce Simpson saw a good deal of action in 1970. The sophs have size and speed, John Roth is an able defensive end and the quarterback will have four letters in his last name—Dick Atha, Kingsley Fink or Jim Ward.

On paper, COLGATE should have a strong team. But the Red Raiders of the Chenango Valley play only three home games and even that is one more than a year ago. Super soph Tom Parr, an excellent option quarterback and a good passer, takes over for Steve Goepel. The runners—Steve Morgan, Paul Byrne and Sean Hallahan—and receivers—Steve Fraser, Steve Saxon and Rick Kay—are all back, along with a fine blocker in guard Brian Houseal. The 5-0 frosh were supposed to be the best ever.

BOSTON UNIVERSITY is optimistic and expects an infusion of sophs to go along with holdovers Sam Hollo (a mid-season injury casualty) and Bill Poole at quarterback, halfback Pat Diamond, tight end Alan Durkovic and defensive tackle Rich Versocki. Depth is again a problem. The Terriers lost three close games last year, and took a real pasting only from Delaware.

It's hard to convince NAVY it had a 2-9 record in 1970; that win over Army has been soothing a lot of wounds all winter. Coach Rick Forzano had his second good plebe class last fall and hopes for better things, particularly from Larry Van Loan, potentially the best receiver ever at Annapolis, and safety Charlie Robinson. Nine defensive starters are back, along with running backs Bob Elflein and Andy Pease, but it may all be for naught unless junior Ade Dillon or sophomores Fred Stuvek and Al Gleny comes through at quarterback, replacing record-setting Mike McNallen.

RUTGERS has a handful of good players like tailback Larry Robertson, tight end Larry Christoff and linebacker Sam Picketts, but will be a young team and is desperate for offensive line help from sophomores.

HOLY CROSS also is desperate...for a win. The Crusaders were 0-10-1 last fall and 0-2 in 1969 before a hepatitis epidemic forced a premature end to that season. A string of incredible bad luck led to Coach Bill Whitton's resignation and Ed Doherty, known as "The Brain" when he played quarterback for Boston College in the 1940s, takes over. Only three starters are gone, but the Crusaders are pushing punter Mark Becker and that ain't a good sign. Top holdovers include running backs Joe Wilson, Eddie Jenkins, Mark Monty and Scott Lodde and sophomore split end Joe Neary looks promising.

The Ivy League race is expected to be wide open, but no one expected Dartmouth to dominate the way they did in 1970 with a 9-0 record, six shutouts and the Lambert Trophy.

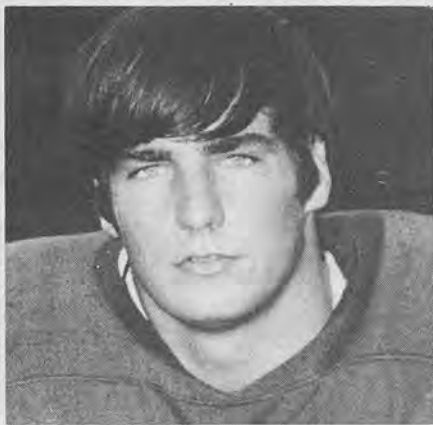

HARVARD went to the Canadian Football League for its new coach, Joe Restic, who likes a wide open game. That should sit well with disgruntled alums, who weren't wild about John Yovicsin's conservative tendencies on the field, although he became the winningest coach in Crimson history.

Yovicsin left quarterbacks Rod Foster and Eric Crone, running backs Ted Demars and Steve Harrison, flanker Bill Craven, most of the offensive line, middle guard Spencer Dreischarf (probably a linebacker in '71) and cornerback Dave Ignacio from a surprising 7-2 team, along with a dozen sophomores who lettered a year ago. The only visible weakness is at linebacker, where Gary Farneti is gone and John Neal is somewhat undersized. Hence, the Dreischarf shift.

"The supporting cast seems to be there," is the way coach Jake McCandless sums up PRINCETON's prospects. It's not quite a cast of thousands, but it includes star running backs Hank Bjorklund and Doug Blake and nine defensive starters, including Carl Barisich, the best tackle since the mid-1960s, and linebacker Phil Barbaccia.

Highly regarded sophomore Kerry Brown could negate the loss of the three top receivers but holdover quarterbacks Rod Plummer and Tim Testerman will have to shrug off their 1970 inconsistency and fight off a challenge from newcomers Jimmy Flynn, Fred Dalzell and Tom Riposta.

Don't look for DARTMOUTH to fade away and die, despite the loss of 16 starters and brilliant coach Bob Blackman. Jake Crouthamel inherits a lot of sophomores who saw plenty of action last fall and the returning regulars are good ones like defensive end Fred Radke, linebacker Wayne Young, cornerback Jack Manning, tackle Joe Leslie and running backs Brendan O'Neill and Stu Simms.

A year ago, one pre-season forecast noted simply that "Brown is in Providence." BROWN still is in Providence and this may be the lowly Bruins' year to growl. Fifteen starters are back, including running backs Gary Bonner and Tom Spotts, a great guard in Frank Walsh, all the receivers and linebacker Steve Bennett among seven defensive regulars. The frosh should provide plenty of help but quarterback is the key. A passer must be found from among holdovers Bob Zink and Nino Moscardi and rookies Don Bogan and Steve Wilson.

YALE lost 10 starters and must rebuild the offensive line, which graduated Tom Neville and Jim Gallagher and had huge Rich Lolotai drop out of school. The offensive looks solid with running back Dick Jauron, who set a Yale record with 962 yards as a sophomore, receivers Rich Maher and Bob Milligan, blockers Earle Matory and Matt Jordan and Chuck Sizemore, who takes over at quarterback for Joe Massey.

CORNELL has the nation's rushing leader in Ed Marinaro but the Big Red's hopes rest on a sophomore quarterback, Mark Allen, who has coach Jack Musick drooling. Allen must take some of the defensive heat off Marinaro.

"Last year we had a diversified attack," claims Musick. "It was Marinaro left and Marinaro right. The last few games we fooled people and ran him up the middle."

COLUMBIA faded after a promising start last season but coach Frank Navarro says the outlook is "more solid than it has been" in recent years. A lot of sophomores started in 1970, including quarterback Don Jackson, flanker Jesse Parks and linebacker Paul Kaliades. Parks was runner-up among Ivy receivers to teammate Mike Jones.

PENN has a new coach in Harry Gamble, late of Lafayette, and 34 lettermen, a staggering number for the Quakers. But there's no proven quarterback—holdovers Gary Shue and Phil Procacci and soph Tom Pinto are the contenders—and Penn may run more than in the past. End Pete Luciano, tackle John Curley and running back Ron Dawson are good ones and split end Don Clune, a track man, is among the best from a good frosh crop.

In the Yankee Conference, MASSACHUSETTS hired coach Dick MacPherson away from the pro Denver Broncos, where he was an aide, and he'll probably shy away from the old I formation and install a wide open attack—if he can replace three members of the backfield. Elsewhere, there is good personnel in tight end John Hulecki, tackle Bob Donlin, defensive tackle Bill DeFlavio and linebacker Joe Sabulis. Among the newcomers is wide receiver Tim Berra.

CONNECTICUT also has a new coach in ex-assistant Bob Casciola and he inherits 26 lettermen from the team that won the title in 1970. They include receivers Vin Russell and Keith Kraham, running back Ray Jackson and defensive backs Brian Herosian and Dom Carlucci. The problems lie in replacing super runner Vin Clements and record-setting passer Rick Robustelli.

RHODE ISLAND had a good crop of sophomores and Bob Ehrhardt, who was a top-notch quarterback in 1969, should get his job back after being ousted last season. Fullback Dick Narcessian is gone, but newcomers Jim Purcell, Donny Weed and Sylvester "Molly" McGee are promising runners.

NEW HAMPSHIRE hopes for another winning season, spearheaded by quarterback Bob Hopkins and tackle Nelson Cassavaugh. The first two games are against Delaware and Connecticut and may tell the story.

VERMONT gets most starters back from an 0-9 group. The Catamounts could improve if running back Bob Rodger, hurt much of 1970, regains his 1969 form.

MAINE hopes to score a lot with either pocket passer Sandy Hastings or rollout man Ron Cote directing the attack. The defensive line needs an overhaul. ▲

JIMMY JONES
USC quarterback

Tailback Clarence Davis gone. Fullback Charlie Evans is gone. Flanker Bob Chandler is gone. Split end Sam Dickerson is gone. Tight end Gerry Mullins is gone. Tackle Marv Montgomery is gone.

"Yes," says coach John McKay of SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, "we have practically everybody back."

How's that again?

"Our 1971 offense should be improved. We're solid at quarterback with Jim Jones and Mike Rae and solid at tailback with Rod McNeill and Lou Harris and fullback with Sam Cunningham and Bill Holland and solid at almost every position in the offensive line."

You can see the Trojans were so deep last year that McKay can overlook his losses. The 1970 aggregation was the highest scoring USC team in 40 years. Cunningham, McNeill and Harris were 2-3-4 in rushing yardage and the first two were tops per carry with averages of 6.4 and 6.0.

Jones completed 52 percent of his passes for 1,877 yards and 10 touchdowns with only five interceptions, and he holds or shares 10 USC passing records. The receivers include Charles Young, and No. 3 pass-catcher a year ago, Chris Vella, Mike Morgan, Dean Lingenfelter and sophomores Artimus Parker and Lynn Swann. John Vella switches back from defensive tackle to offense, where he joins returning starters Pete Adams at the other tackle, Mike Ryan and Alan Graf at guards and Dave Brown or Bob Stirling at center.

So how come the favored Trojans skidded to a 6-4-1 record in 1970 and 3-4 in Pacific-8 play? Rumors of dissension swirled around them and an early conference loss to Stanford didn't help. But mainly it was defense, or a lack of it. The Trojans allowed more points—233—than ever.

That porous defense, which included All-America end Charlie Weaver, "needs to be completely rebuilt," says McKay. "It was defensively that our team collapsed last year, more because of injury than any other single factor. It is a very young but talented group we have back defensively. We should have better depth than a year ago."

McKay picks UCLA, Oregon and Stanford as the teams to beat in the PAC-8. He wouldn't say it but we will—beware of USC.

STANFORD's losses included Heisman Trophy quarterback Jim Plunkett, now plying his trade for the Boston-Bay State-New England Patriots, tight end Bob Moore, wide receivers Randy Vataha, Demea Washington and Jack Lasater, center John Sande and defensive lineman Dave Tipton. But despite their losses, the 1971 Indians don't lack confidence.

"The kids think they'll be better, especially on defense," reports a source close to the defending champs. The outlook, however, revolves around quarterback, where Don Bunce figures to take over. "Bunce thinks he's better than Plunkett," smiles coach John Ralston.

Indeed, Bunce, who backed up Plunkett in 1968 and 1969 (he won the Washington game one year when Plunkett was hurt), decided to sit out last season so he could be the 1971 regular. He ran the scout team for the Rose Bowl, emulating Ohio State's Rex Kern, and that was one reason Stanford was so well-prepared for the Buckeyes. Bunce is a fine passer, but differs from Plunkett because he likes to roll out and run and is a master of the broken play. Also in the picture are backups Jesse Freitas, a dropback passer in the Plunkett mold, and Mike Boryla, and exciting sophomore Mike Gilyard.

With 34 lettermen, Stanford has experience at virtually every position. The top vets are linebackers Jeff Siemon and Mike Simone, defensive linemen Pete Lazetich, Greg Sampson and Larry Butler, running backs Jackie Brown and Hillary Shockley and offensive tackle Steve Jubb.

Tommy Prothro is still coaching in Los Angeles, but with the pro Rams rather than UCLA. Pepper Rodgers, late of Kansas but a Prothro aide in 1965 and 1966, takes over on the Westwood campus.

"There has never been a good football team that didn't have a good quarterback," says Rodgers, and UCLA lost a good one in Dennis Dummit, the greatest passer in Bruin history. "Quarterback is the most crucial position on the team and we're inexperienced there simply because we don't know who's going to play for us. The problem is that we have too many candidates."

BOB CHRISTIANSEN
UCLA end

DON BUNCE
Stanford quarterback

LOU HARRIS
USC halfback

The top ones are redshirt Scott Henderson and sophomores Lewis Thomas and Jeff Allen, along with some junior college transfers. The best of the newcomers, however, is fullback James McAlister, who gained 360 yards with a 5.5 average in three frosh games and could step right in. He's also a world class long jumper.

Most everyone else besides Dummit is back, including Dave Dalby, UCLA's best-ever center; Bob Christiansen, who could be the best-ever tight end; linebacker Bob Pifferini and safety Ron Carver. If running back Mickey Cureton, who missed last season with a stretched ligament in his neck, is recovered, the ground game should be explosive.

OREGON lost second team All-America end Bob Newland but not much else. The Ducks have three superstars in running back Bobby Moore, linebacker Tom Graham and quarterback Dan Fouts, but the schedule is super, too—the Excedrin headache kind. They open at Nebraska, last year's national champs. After a home game with Utah, it's back on the road against Stanford's Rose Bowl victors; then on to Texas, which was No. 1 in 1969 and again last year until the Cotton Bowl, and finally to Southern Cal, always a power.

Last season, Moore set an Oregon rushing record of 924 yards, even though he missed one game. He spent his sophomore year as a flanker but still ranks ninth in career rushing at Oregon and needs 734 yards to become top dog. Fouts, who took over for the injured Tom Blanchard early in 1970, broke or tied every Oregon game and season passing and total offense record—and he has two years left.

A new super soph, 250-pound LeFrancis Arnold, should win an offensive line berth and the Ducks wooed sought-after split end Larry Battle away from Reedley Junior College, where last season he caught 80 passes for 1,329 yards and 26 touchdowns and booted 44 extra points, becoming the first player in modern college history to score more than 200 points in one campaign. With 17 starters also back, the Ducks can't help but be improved, but, oh, that schedule!

Dee Andros, the "Great Pumpkin," has never had a losing season at OREGON STATE and will have a senior-dominated team with 45 returning lettermen. They include fullback Dave Schilling, split end Jeff Kolberg, defensive end Jim Sherbert and safety Jim Lilly. The key, however, is quarterback Steve Endicott, who broke his wrist early last season. It didn't heal properly, a bone graft was needed and Endicott missed spring practice. Jim Kilmartin, who replaced him, only completed 39 of 90 passes and had 11 intercepted.

The early going is rugged with road games at Georgia, Michigan State and UCLA, but the Beavers don't play Southern Cal and that has to help.

CALIFORNIA lost third team All-America tackle Bob Richards and quarterbacks Dave Penhall (who outplayed Stanford's Plunkett) and Steve Curtis. The problems, therefore, are along the offensive line and at QB, which is wide open.

Tim Todd and track star Isaac Curtis head the running game and the top receivers, Steve Sweeney and Geoff DeLapp, also are back. Junior college transfer Lonnie Crittenden could beat out DeLapp, but Geoff has fought off other challengers the past two years. The defense is in good hands, particularly those of linemen Sherman and O. Z. White, who aren't related, and cornerback Ray Youngblood. Coach Ray Willsey hit the junior colleges hard for offensive linemen.

WASHINGTON lost 12 starters via graduation plus a great sophomore defensive back, Cal Jones, one of four black athletes to quit the squad. The losses included the entire offensive line, guard

Ernie Janet and center Bruce Jarvis among them, and star fullback Bo Cornell.

Sonny Sixkiller, the Cherokee Chucker and national passing champ, is back, along with halfback Darrell Downey and flanker Jim Krieg. The defense is strong, despite the loss of Jones and tackle Tom Failla, with linebacker Rick Huget a key veteran. The secondary, though, will be inexperienced.

Most observers feel the PAC-8 could be a seven-team race among everyone but WASHINGTON STATE. The Cougars moved the ball well, averaging 383 yards a game, but they often bogged down inside their opponents' 20-yard line. Eight returning starters include guard Steve Busch, tailback Bernard Jackson and quarterback Ty Paine.

The master project, however, is on defense. Only Idaho scored as few as 16 points against WSU in 1970. The rest of the foes kept scoreboard operators busy—Michigan State, Oregon and Oregon State 28 points, Arizona State 37, Washington 43, California 45, Kansas 48, UCLA 54, Stanford 63 and Southern Cal 70. Ouch!

SAN DIEGO STATE had its 31-game unbeaten string snapped, lost the Pacific Coast Athletic Association crown to Long Beach and, on paper, was wiped out by graduation, which took 18 starters. But coach Don Coryell raided the junior colleges, as usual, and while he didn't get the quantity he wanted, the quality is there. They'll join potent offensive performers Brian Sipe at quarterback and Eddie Steward at halfback. The Aztecs also have three top-notch pro prospects in guard Bruce Ward, cornerback Willie Buchanan and split end Tom Reynolds, who set an NCAA record in 1969 with 18 touchdown catches in only 7½ games but missed 1970 with a knee injury.

LONG BEACH STATE should be up there again despite the loss of two-time Little All-America running back Leon Burns. The 49ers have holdover regular Randy Drake and USC transfer Jim Fassel at quarterback, a great defensive tackle in John Kahler and three transfers bidding to replace Burns.

PACIFIC thinks it will be stronger, with incoming transfers rated above some holdovers. But the offensive backfield was virtually wiped out, including high-ranking quarterback John Read, and the defense needs an overhaul, too. Backup Hershel Petty and sophomore Carlos Brown will battle at quarterback.

SAN JOSE STATE has one of the finest players on the Pacific Coast in linebacker Dave Chaney, a fine runner in Dale Knott and could be a factor in the race with most starters back. Quarterback Ivan Lippi, however, is gone. Coach Dewey King, who replaced ill Joe McMullen early last season, will be the boss from the start this time. The schedule, however, lists non-league games with the likes of California, Houston, New Mexico, Oregon, Stanford and Arizona State.

FRESNO STATE suffered heavy losses.

DAN FOUTS
Oregon quarterback

DAVE CHANEY
San Jose State linebacker

RANDY PALOMINO
Santa Barbara quarterback

including quarterback Karl Francis, full-back Herbie Phillips, ace flanker Gary Boreham, four members of the offensive line and seven defensive regulars. The Bulldogs will build around guard Steve Verry and defensive tackle Elmer Cummings.

UC-SANTA BARBARA returns 27 lettermen, including 14 starters. The backfield should be strong with quarterback Randy Palomino, running backs Steve Huntsinger and Glenn Brown and flanker Mike Anton. Middle guard Ken Tarlow leads seven returning defensive starters.

LOS ANGELES STATE has a new coach in Foster Anderson, who comes in with high hopes and a flock of junior college transfers. Anderson almost fainted when he saw the 20 or so lettermen back. "We're counting on only three," he said. They're linebackers Jack Loos and Bob Behen and guard Jeff Virden. "Such poor guys," Anderson tsk-tsked about the others. "The junior college people are head and shoulders above them."

Defending champion MONTANA is favored again in the Big Sky Conference, despite losing running backs Arnie Blancas and Les Kent, defensive tackle Larry Miller and safety Karl Stein. The offense will have to carry the early load—namely, quarterback Gary Berding, runners Steve Caputo and Wally Gaskins and guard Willie Postler.

There's cautious optimism at IDAHO, which lost seven players with knee injuries in the first three games of 1970. Coach Don Robbins took over following spring practice and that hurt, too. The Vandals moved into new 18,000-seat Neale Stadium, which next season will have 24,000 seats and a roof. Only six seniors were lost and running back Fred Riley and linebacker Ron Linehan are among the best in the West.

BOISE STATE returns its entire backfield, although flanker Al Marshall may be questionable with calcium deposits on his thigh. The Broncos have high hopes for quarterback Eric Guthrie, guard Brent McIver (a three-year starter) and linebacker Steve Vogel, along with a sophomore tackle bearing the captivating name of Blessing Bird.

IDAHO STATE already has a roof—the Bengals play in the snazzy little Mini-Dome—and 17 starters are back from the 1970 finale. They include tackle Ken Krahn, center Stan Geyer and cornerback Louie Hurst, but a replacement will have to be found for quarterback Jerry Dunne. Top candidates are holdovers Tom Lee and Dan Halt.

WEBER STATE lost 12 starters and will rebuild around quarterback Dale Mager and tackle Dave Taylor. MONTANA STATE returns 14 starters, but the key will be whether holdover Zoonie McLean or sophomore Larry Eyer can do the job at quarterback. Linebacker Ron Ueland could be a super soph. NORTH ARIZONA has a great pro prospect in 230-pound middle linebacker Mike Boettcher but not much else. ▲

The night of Saturday, Nov. 20, will be a big one in the South, and particularly in Baton Rouge, La. That's the night Notre Dame invades Dixie for a rematch with LOUISIANA STATE and the winner could wind up with the national championship.

Notre Dame hasn't been the Bayou Tigers' favorite people the past two years. Two seasons back, the money-minded Fighting Irish re-entered the bowl picture after a 45-year absence and their intrusion left LSU with nowhere to go on New Year's Day.

Last year, a heart-breaking 3-0 loss to Notre Dame put the Tigers in the position of having to beat Tulane and Mississippi to earn an invitation to the Orange Bowl. They did just that, only to drop a 17-12 toughie to Nebraska that made the Cornhuskers national champs.

The Tigers may not have the best team in the Southeastern Conference this time around, but they certainly have the best schedule. After opening with non-league foes Colorado, Texas A&M, Wisconsin and Rice—none favored to win their own leagues—the SEC slate begins with such powers as Tennessee and Auburn nowhere to be found.

In addition, LSU plays its toughest SEC opponents—Alabama and Florida—at home before the frenzied faithful, hitting the road only for games with perennial also-rans Kentucky and Mississippi and rebuilding Ole Miss. Then come Notre Dame and Tulane, both in Baton Rouge.

Seven regulars are missing from 1970's super defense, best in the nation for the second year in a row against the rush, but such proven performers as tackle

Ronnie Estay, linebackers Louis Cascio and Richard Picou and All-America cornerback Tommy Casanova are back.

Offensively, LSU lost only both tackles and quarterback Buddy Lee. But Bert Jones, who completed the 52 percent of his passes while alternating with Lee, returns, as do record-breaking tailback Arthur Cantrelle (his 892 yards broke Steve Van Buren's mark of 847) and splitback Andy Hamilton, whose 870 yards on pass receptions and 1,141 for his career are both records.

Also back are fullbacks Allen Shorey and Jim Benglis, tight ends Jay Michaelson and Ken Kavanaugh, split end Gerald Keigley, guards Mike Demarie and Jimmy Elkins and center Jack Jaubert. The battle to replace tackles Glenn Alexander and Mike Wright will be waged among holdovers Phil Murray and Charles Stuart and sophomore Tyler LaFauci.

Two more good-looking newcomers—end Jim Gainey and tackle Randy Nicard—will help minimize the defensive line losses, which included second team All-America tackle John Sage. Mike Anderson, a first team All-America, is the only linebacker missing.

Also back is Charlie McClendon, who shared Coach of the Year honors for 1970 with Darrell Royal of Texas. When McClendon was honored at the coaches' conclave, a fellow mentor was heard to say that Charlie Mac is one of the few tutors around who could teach every facet of the game if his assistants suddenly disappeared.

"The offense will be improved," promises coach Mac. "But the defense will have to reprove itself. A big factor is how well we stay healthy until we bring some people along. We should put one good, solid team out there. We don't have great depth, but we have the thing to still be a winner."

AUBURN returns its super-charged All-America aerial battery of quarterback Pat Sullivan (third team) and wide receiver Terry Beasley (second team), a combination which throws the bomb as consistently as anyone, according to coach Bill Battle of Tennessee. The 1970 squad set an SEC total offense record and Sullivan led the nation in individual total offense, averaging 285.6 yards per game and setting a national record by gaining an average of 8.57 yards every time he handled the ball.

The biggest individual loss was third team All-America defensive back Larry Willingham, but sophomore David Langer is supposed to be even quicker. Terry Henley, Harry Unger and Tommy Lowry should adequately replace departed running backs Mickey Zofko and Wallace Clark. But the linebacking corps needs an overhaul, especially the strong side, which is the key to Auburn's defense and where Bobby Strickland held forth.

For sheer talent, FLORIDA probably is the class of the conference. But coach Doug Dickey, just down from Tennessee, had his problems with players on and off the field in 1970 and the Gators must play LSU and Auburn on the road in 1971.

Ten of the 11 offensive regulars return, including quarterback John Reaves, the nation's leading passer over the past two seasons, wide receiver Carlos Alvarez, tailback Tommy Durrance and tight end Jim Yancey. The picture is almost as bright on defense, despite the loss of All-America end Jack Youngblood.

Reaves, a classic dropback passer, had

TOMMY CASANOVA
LSU defensive back to scramble for his life at times a year ago, but a crop of promising sophomores is expected to push any lackadaisical veterans on the offensive line and increase Reaves' life expectancy. He might be the pros' next No. 1 draft choice.

Reaves' main chore in the spring was to cut his time for the 40-yard dash from 5.1 to 4.8 seconds. He said he was "pushed by a desire to be able to outrun those big ends and linebackers and get tackled by smaller defensive backs instead." If he keeps his health, he should get the 2,605 yards he needs to surpass Jim Plunkett's NCAA career total offense record.

Despite so-so records of 6-4 and 6-5 the last two years, ALABAMA made it to bowl games anyway on the magic name of coach Paul "Bear" Bryant. The Crimson Tide could go on their own this season, provided either junior Terry Davis, a fine sprint-out man, or redshirt Bill Sexton can take over for star quarterback Scott Hunter.

Elsewhere, the losses aren't too serious. The veterans include super tailback Johnny Musso, the Tide's All-America hopeful, split end David Bailey, tackle John Hannah, defensive end Robin Parkhouse and linebacker Jim Krapf. They're bolstered by some junior college transfers and an unbeaten frosh crew.

Musso broke two SEC rushing records in 1970 and became the third best yardage-producer in league history. Bryant calls him "a better football player than John David Crow, and Crow won the Heisman Trophy when we were at Texas A&M in 1957."

At TENNESSEE, where rookie coach Battle brought home an unexpected 10-1 record plus a Sugar Bowl rout of Air Force, second team All-America linebacker Jackie Walker and third team safety Bobby Majors head a seasoned defense that lost only three regulars. One of them was Tim Priest, who intercepted nine passes of Tennessee's SEC record 36.

Battle must rebuild his offense, including most of the backfield and interior line. Fullback Curt Watson is a great framework to build around and Kevin Milam, George Silvey and sophomore Haskell Stanback are promising runners, but Battle's big concern is quarterback, where Bobby Scott was vastly underrated in a league of big-name passers. Holdovers Dennis Chadwick and Jim Maxwell are in the picture, along with sophs Chip Howard and Ed McDougal and possibly cornerback Phil Pierce.

All-America guard Chip Kell is the big loss up front. It will take some doing to match last year's record, but the Vols shouldn't slip all that much.

Everyone knew who Archie Manning was, but MISSISSIPPI's opponents liked to wear "Archie Who?" buttons anyway. This year's big question is just plain "Who?" Namely who will replace 16 departed regulars, including Manning, third team All-America tackle Worthy McClure, wide receivers Floyd Franks and Vernon Studdard, and linebacker Fred Brister.

Fortunately for new coach Billy Kinard, succeeding the legendary Johnny Vaught, the returning starters are good ones like tight end Jim Poole, running backs Bob Knight and Randy Reed, defensive end Preston Carpenter and linebacker Crowell Armstrong.

The No. 1 hunt, naturally, is at quarterback. The logical choice is between Shug Chumbler, Manning's backup, and redshirt sophomore Norris Weese, but also in the picture are redshirts Larry Brogdon and Jimmy Causey, senior Don Farrar and sophomore Kenny Lyons.

Menacing noises are emanating from Nashville, Tenn., and it's not the Nashville Sound. Instead, it comes from VANDERBILT, where a spokesman says the Commodores "expect to be in the top three or four." Although 43 lettermen are back, including 16 starters, the key is a knee. It belongs to quarterback Watson Brown, who coach Bill Pace calls as fine an option QB as there is around. Brown was hurt much of last season, underwent knee surgery early this year and missed spring practice.

If he can swing it in the fall, Steve Burger can stick to tailback, where he was Vandy's top 1970 rusher. Other star candidates are center Sandy Haurly, defensive linemen George Abertnathy and Mike Kirk and defensive back Ken Stone.

GEORGIA gets 15 starters back from a squad that blew a Peach Bowl bid by dropping its 1970 finale. They include offensive linemen Royce Smith and Tom Nash, tailback Ricky Lake, linebacker Chip Wisdom, defensive back Buzy Rosenberg and quarterback James Ray, the 1970 regular until he wrecked a knee early in the season.

The Bulldogs missed out on a bowl trip for the first time since 1965 and Coach Bill Dooley says, "We must improve both our offense and defense." What else is there? For openers, there's Andy Johnson, a sophomore quarterback who just might supplant a healthy Ray.

Coach Johnny (no relation) Ray's first batch of KENTUCKY recruits are sophomores and good ones, like halfback Doug Kotar, quarterback Mike Fanuzzi, tackle Jim McCollum and center Dave Margavage. But you don't win with sophs in the SEC and Ray doesn't have enough quality veterans, although linebacker Joe Federspiel is an authentic all-star.

MISSISSIPPI STATE surprised with a 6-5 mark a year ago and gets its entire defensive unit back. The schedule, however, is nothing but trouble. The Bulldogs face every other SEC team except Kentucky, and non-league Oklahoma State and Florida State are road games.

Rover Steve Wahley and cornerback Frank Dowsing spearhead the defense. The offense lost top receivers Sammy Milner and David Smith and quarterback Joe Reed, but features top rusher and scorer Lewis Grubbs.

DUKE lost its great passing combination of quarterback Leo Hart and split end Wes Chesson, along with linebacker Dick Biddle and coach Tom Harp. Mike McGee came over from East Carolina to succeed Harp, who was fired, and he could wind up with an Atlantic Coast Conference championship in his first season.

McGee has been shifting people around, although all-star candidate Rich Searl is back at safety after a few scary days at linebacker. McGee moved defensive end Bruce Mills to tackle and offensive tackle Ed Newman to linebacker and even experimented with the triple option, since quarterback hopefuls Dennis Satyshur and John Spoganetz aren't the passers Hart was. One person McGee didn't monkey with is fullback Steve Jones.

No one in his right mind expected WAKE FOREST to win the ACC title last year. But the Deacons did exactly that and coach Cal Stoll gets back 15 starters. They include quarterback Larry Russell, fullback Larry Hopkins, guard Bill Bobbora and linebacker Ed Stetz.

It was Wake's first football crown, including its old Southern Conference days, and this time the Deacons will be the hunted, not the hunter.

It didn't take long for the injury jinx to ruin MARYLAND's 1970 campaign. Guard Bill Meister, the Terrapins' best offensive lineman in 1968 and 1969, missed the entire season with a knee injury and split end Dennis O'Hara was sidelined in the opener.

They're back for another go-round, along with all-ACC defensive end Guy Roberts, quarterback Jeff Shugars, fullback Art Seymore and wingback Larry Marshall, who switches to defense as coach Roy Lester goes with three set-backs.

NORTH CAROLINA lost tailback Don McCauley, who smashed O.J. Simpson's one-season national ground-gaining record, and all seven members of a strong offensive line. Junior Ike Oglesby, who gained more yards as a sophomore than any other Tar Heel, including McCauley, takes over at tailback and Lewis Jolley is a fine wingback. The defense, led by tackle Bud Grissom and linebacker John Bunting, will have to be even stronger than it was in 1970.

VIRGINIA won its five non-league games in 1970 and dropped all six ACC contests. The Cavaliers, under new coach Don Lawrence, hope to do better in the conference, thanks to an all-veteran backfield featuring quarterback Bill Troup and fullback Gary Helman. But seven defensive starters are gone, even though tackle Andy Selfridge and end Billy Williams lend some stability up front.

SOUTH CAROLINA had a disappointing season and no longer has Tommy Suggs, who threw an ACC career record 34 touchdown passes. The Gamecocks have a strong secondary with Dickie Harris and Tyler Hellams all-star candidates, but coach Paul Dietzel's most enjoyable moment of 1971 is likely to be his receiving the George Washington Honor Medal from the Freedom Foundation for a newspaper article called "Let's Cure Problems Sanely" dealing with campus unrest.

CLEMSON looks for improvement in coach Hootie Ingram's second year, but even 36 lettermen—including quarterback Tommy Kendrick, tight end John McMakin and cornerback Don Kelley, now a flanker—and some good-looking sophomores may not be enough.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE's Earle Edwards is president of the American Football Coaches Association and if he can prod the Wolfpack to a winning season he'll probably be Coach of the Year, too.

Middle guard George Smith anchors a respectable defense, but the Wolfpack scored only 10 touchdowns in 1970. Sophomores such as quarterback Bruce Shaw, tailback Willie Burden and fullback Charlie Young could provide some firepower, but Edwards usually goes with experience.

In the Southern Conference, former pro star Sonny Randle inherits an enviable situation at EAST CAROLINA. Among 14 returning starters are such quality performers as fullback Billy Wallace, split end Carl Gordon, guard Mike Kopp and defensive tackle Rich Peller. But the big news on the Greenville, N.C., campus is the presence of two newcomers.

One is Carlester Crumpler, a 6-5, 215-pound high school All-America running back who was ineligible for ECU's freshman team last fall but is already considered the greatest player ever to wear an East Carolina uniform. The other is 6-3, 195-pound junior college quarterback Gary Wann, who may push holdover John Casazza out of a job.

WILLIAM & MARY won the conference title before running afoul of Toledo in the Tangerine Bowl. Fullback Phil Mosser, the league's top ground-gainer, heads 27 returning lettermen, including exciting little quarterback Steve Regan and guard Jackson Neall. Regan gives the Indians an experienced signal-caller for the first time in four years and every man who caught a pass in 1970 also is back. The defensive line needs shoring up.

THE CITADEL expects to have its best offense ever, with coach Red Parker being secretive about a change in the Citadel Veer. Star runner Bob Duncan moves from tailback to fullback and holdover quarterback John Rosa will get a strong challenge from sophomores Dave Ryan and James Capers. Split end Billy Watson, out last season with hepatitis, and tackle Mike Davitt, hurt after three plays in the 1970 opener, are back. Tackle Norman Seabrooks and cornerback Jeff Varnadoe are the top vets in a defense which has problems elsewhere.

FURMAN was the only Southern Conference team with an overall winning record a year ago and the 8-3 Paladins have 32 lettermen back, including running back Steve Crislip, quarterback John De Leo, defensive tackle Ron Boozer, defensive guard Chester Willis, cornerback Mike Fabian and defensive ends David Shi and George Harbin.

RICHMOND suffered heavy losses after a fourth-place 1970 finish. Gone is the aerial tandem of quarterback Charlie Richards and wide receiver Jim Livesay, along with all-conference defensive tackles Bruce Kasarda and John Barelli. On the plus side, Jerry Haynes is an outstanding flanker, Ray Esterling a superb cornerback and 230-pound soph Barty Smith gives the Spiders their first bone-crunching fullback in many moons.

Vito Ragazzo's five years at VMI produced a 10-41 record and six of the wins came in 1967. The last three seasons were 1-9, 0-10 and 1-10. So the tiny military school, whose 1,200 enrollment makes it one of the smallest major football colleges, fired Ragazzo and gave the job to assistant Bob Thalman. There are 41 lettermen around, but a lot of starters graduated and others left school. Experience is lacking everywhere, although Pete Ramsey is a top-notch tackle and Mac Bowman a talented runner.

DAVIDSON also lost heavily, including Mike Mikolayunas, the nation's top pass-catcher. The backfield should be adequate with running backs Johnny Ribet and Bill Bracken, but both lines were wiped out.

Among the Southern independents, bowl victors Georgia Tech (Sun) and Tulane (Liberty) loom as the best.

GEORGIA TECH lost All-America tackle Rock Perdoni, but little else. Alternate quarterback Eddie McAshan and halfbacks Brent Cunningham and Rob Healy return from an offensive unit which set a school record of 3,389 yards in 11 regular-season games. Jeff "The Jet" Ford is an All-America candidate at cornerback and Smylie Gebhart is a top-flight defensive end. The Yellow Jackets play eight games in friendly Atlanta, hitting the road only to South Carolina, Tennessee and Tulane.

Like Tech, TULANE's fortunes took a sharp rise as the Green Wave made it to a bowl for the first time in 30 years. Coach Jim Pittman then up and left for Texas Christian, however, and Bennie Ellender, College Division Coach of the Year, came over from Arkansas State.

He inherits 35 lettermen, including 14 starters, but not including second team All-America linebacker Rick Kingrea and record-setting tailback David Abercrombie. The Wave is three-deep at quarterback with Mike Walker, Greg Gleason and Rusty Lachaussee but the strongest segment is the secondary, where Joe Bulard, David Hebert and Paul Ellis have started every game for two years. Highly regarded sophomore Mahlon Harrell is counted on for some needed line help.

FLORIDA STATE lost pass-happy coach Bill Peterson to Rice and brought in Larry Jones, a Tennessee aide, who also likes to throw the ball. The Seminoles have most of their starters back, but no proven quarterback, although Gary Huff started a couple of games. If Huff comes through, FSU has a superb receiver in Rhett Dawson. Jones installed the Tennessee 4-3-4 defense and then started hunting for some linebackers to join Dan Whitehurst, the only returnee there. In the secondary, James Thomas is all-star material.

The troubles started early last season for MIAMI OF FLORIDA. Coach Charlie Tate quit after the second game and interim mentor Walt Kichefski couldn't get things going. Fran Curci, a former Hurricane quarterback, was hired away from Tampa, where he built a small college power. The backfield returns intact in disappointing quarterback Kelly Cochrane, running backs Tom Sullivan and Chuck Foreman and flanker Don Brennan. Mike Barnes and Dickie Trower are defensive line standouts, but the schedule is the toughest ever.

SOUTHERN MISSISSIPPI recorded one of the great upsets in football history last year by beating Ole Miss, 30-14. Buoyed by that success, the Big Gold promptly lost to Mississippi State, Memphis State, Louisiana Tech and West Texas State. The heroes of the Ole Miss game—quarterback Rick Donegan, defensive end Hugh Eggersman and kicker-safety Ray Guy—are back, along with a dozen blue-chip sophomores, including tailback Doyle Orange, who gained more than 850 yards in five frosh games.

VIRGINIA TECH canned coach Jerry Claiborne, who was quickly snapped up by Colorado to beef up their defense, and lured Charlie Coffey away from Arkansas, where he was Frank Broyles' first lieutenant. There are 37 lettermen on hand, but not much team speed.

No coach in the country has more of a chore than MARSHALL's new head man, Jack Lengyel. The tragic plane crash last November that took 75 lives, 35 of them varsity players, virtually wiped out Marshall's football program. The 1971 squad has named itself the "Young Thundering Herd" and is composed mainly of freshmen and sophomores, with a sprinkling of upperclassmen led by defensive back Nate Ruffin. ▲

| 2. Utah State |                            |

Football was a poor cousin to basketball at NEW MEXICO in recent years, but that started to change in 1970. The Lobos had their best season in six years (7-3 overall, 5-1 in the Western Athletic Conference for second place behind nationally ranked Arizona State) and became the WAC's Cinderella team. The five conference wins were the most ever by New Mexico and it was the first winning season in WAC play since 1954.

The ground game ranked second in the country and accounted for most of the 26 records set or tied. All four backs gained more than 650 yards on the ground, and fullback Sam Scarber, who rewrote the record books, is the only loss. Quarterback Rocky Long and halfbacks Fred Henry and Nate McCall are back. Henry's 829 yards was the most ever by a WAC sophomore.

The 37 returning lettermen also include linebacker Houston Ross, a 220-pound bruiser who led the defense with 108 individual tackles, 43 assists, five interceptions, seven deflections, one fumble recovery and a blocked field goal attempt. He's joined behind the line by starters Cliff Archer and Herman Fredenberg.

Oct. 23 should be a big night in Albuquerque. That's when Arizona State comes to town.

If the Lobos are going to be a headache for the rest of the WAC, imagine the problems in store for sportscasters and headline writers when they tangle with a 5-10, 220-pound chunk of fullback from American Samoa by way of Palomar Junior College in California named—are you ready?—Saleutogi Lanititi Letuligasenoa. They call him Tony. Understandably.

That should be quite a skirmish on Oct. 23 because ARIZONA STATE thinks it has enough to repeat as conference champs despite the loss of such stars as wide receiver J. D. Hill (the No. 4 pro pick and first non-quarterback taken), QB Joe Spagnola and guards Gary Venturo and Ken Coyle.

Coach Frank Kush has 22 lettermen, some promising freshmen and four junior college transfers. The returnees include Mike Tomco, who was all-WAC center last year but returns to tackle where he was all-WAC the year before; Monroe Eley, running star of the Peach Bowl; defensive end Junior Ah You (will a volcano erupt when Hawaiian Ah You tackles New Mexico's Letuligasenoa?) and cornerback Windlan Hall.

Calvin Demery, who set all the pass-catching records in 1969 that Hill broke in 1970, is expected back in the fall from a knee injury that forced him out much of the past season.

There are seven contenders for the vacant quarterback spot. The leader is Grady Hurst, two-year backup to Spagnola, who can roll out (he runs the 100 in 9.7) and throw on the run. Other challengers are redshirt Jim Brady, a transfer from Notre Dame; Rick Brown from Pasadena City College; and sophomores Dan White, Donnie (no relation) Hurst, Ralph Nickerson and Ken Smith. White, who will do the punting and share the placekicking, also plays baseball and, according to an ASU spokesman, "would go out for basketball if he had the time."

ARIZONA is making loud noises about linebacker Mark Arneson, one of 32 lettermen, as an All-America candidate. But that's not all the Wildcats have to growl about. Both quarterbacks, Bill Demory and Brian Linstrom, are back to run the newly installed Veer offense. Bob McCall goes from tailback to fullback to make room for the return of super prospect Joe Petroschus, who missed most of his sophomore season with a broken ankle. Wide receiver Charles Earl "The Pearl" McKee caught 26 passes in 1970 for 496 yards and nine touchdowns, a phenomenal average.

But the Wildcats' strength may be the defense, which, besides Arneson, shows end Bob Crum, tackles Jim Ventriglia and Jim Johnson, linebacker Richard Dodson and backs Ray Clarke, Jackie Wallace and Justin Lanne. They'll be joined by this year's super soph, Jackie White, probably the fastest Wildcat.

At TEXAS-EL PASO, coach Bobby Dobbs looks for improvement, especially on offense where nine starters are back. Bill Craig passed for 2,123 yards and Ed Puishes caught 57 passes for 1,000.

The top six rushers return, led by Phil Hatch, and Dobbs terms the offensive line, headed by 240-pound tackle Bob Tackett, "probably the best we've had in my six years here." Dobbs also admits that "we didn't play defense as well as we should have," but six starters are back, including middle guard Don Croft, linebacker Tony Perea and cornerback Eric Washington.

It was a disappointing 1970 for UTAH, which failed to muster the expected challenge for the WAC crown. The Redskins' biggest graduation losses came along the offensive line, where only tackle Bruce Cousin returns. In the backfield, quarterback Gordon "Scooter" Longmire, halfback Fred Graves and fullback Jay Hardman will be joined by Gene Belczyk.

Norm Thompson, a second team All-America cornerback, is one of the two people who must be replaced on defense. Holdover Ed Pfursich may be the answer. Star punter-placekicker Marv Bateman will take care of those departments and the newcomers from a 4-0 frosh crew, perhaps Utah's best ever, should help, too.

BRIGHAM YOUNG gets most of the starters back from a club which a spokesman describes as "not too bad" despite a 3-8 record. The Cougars should be improved, if only through the return of All-America tackle candidate Gordon Gravelle, who was hurt in the 1970 opener.

Brian Gunderson came through at quarterback toward the end of the season and he has good receivers in Golden Richards, Dave Coon, Dan Bowers and that rare bird, the two-way player, in flanker-safety Bill Miller. End Joe Liljenquist and linebacker Jeff Lyman are back to lead the defense but the big problem everywhere is depth.

COLORADO STATE feels its schedule gives it a shot at the title. The Rams play five WAC games, the minimum for consideration in the race, they get Arizona State at home and they don't play New Mexico or Arizona.

The Rams went heavy on interior linemen from the junior colleges but need a quarterback to go with holdover runners like record-breaking Lawrence McCutcheon, Larry Tarver and Jake Green. The QB job is up for grabs among transfers Mike Ottombrind, redshirt Scott Simmons and sophomores Jim Erickson and Jim Feltus.

Lloyd Eaton stepped down as coach and up to assistant athletic director after WYOMING's disastrous 1-9 campaign, and Fritz Shurmur, for nine years the Cowboys' defensive line coach, succeeded him. Shurmur will do a lot of experimenting, even though he gets back 34 lettermen, including the top six rushers (led by tailback Frosty Franklin), the top three passers and the top two receivers.

Quarterback Gary Fox, who missed the last seven games with a head injury, returns and Scott Freeman, who replaced him, may go to split end. Ed Synakowski, who was to have been No. 1, drowned just before the season started. Other quality performers include Ken Hustad, who came into his own at tight end, tackle Conrad Dobler, who shifts to defense, and safety Ed Schmidt. Rich Zimmerman, a defensive end who sat out 1970 with a knee injury, also is back. Things are looking up, but Shurmur will be a great coach if he breaks even.

Among the independents, AIR FORCE will try to keep from being grounded following a 9-2 regular season (the Falcons then lost to Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl) that saw all kinds of records shattered. Quarterback Bob Parker, who set 14 marks, and All-America flanker Ernie Jennings, who established 13, are gone, leaving tailback Brian Bream, who gained 1,276 yards and scored 20 touchdowns, to carry the brunt of the load. Bream's 120 points and Jennings' 114 made them the greatest 1-2 scoring punch in the history of major college football.

As you might expect, rebuilding the offense will be coach Ben Martin's first order of business. Backup Joel Carlson, who threw only two passes all season, takes over for Parker. The Falcons obviously aren't going to replace Jennings' 74 receptions and 1,289 yards, but likely successor Abe Abraham is even faster than the 9.6 Jennings, though he doesn't have the same good hands.

End Paul Bassa and center Orderia Mitchell will anchor the offensive line while leading tackler Bill Mayfield, a middle guard, returns on defense.

UTAH STATE is optimistic after winning some games it was supposed to lose and losing some it was supposed to win. Road games against Nebraska, Kansas State and San Diego State won't help, though. The offense should be all right with quarterback Tony Adams, tailback John Strycula (he could go to defense), split end Bob Wicks (second nationally in punt returns) and guard Dave Cox.

NEW MEXICO STATE had the horses in 1970 but could do no better than 4-6. Many of the horses have galloped off and a tougher schedule is in prospect. Watch out for the Aggies' ground game, though, with Ron "Po" James, who has rambled for 3,114 career yards, Ralph Brown, the top scorer, and sophomore Jack Collins. Guard John Edmondson is the only offensive line starter returning and he's a good one. Lineman Joey Jackson is one of six regulars on defense. ▲

"This should be the best team we have had since the big team of 1965 and 1966. We hope we haven't the severe injury attrition which we suffered the last several years, but this time we would be in a better position to stand it in terms of depth and quality of manpower. We definitely expect to be a Big Ten championship challenger."

Fighting words from Duffy Daugherty, veteran coach at MICHIGAN STATE, who hasn't forgotten that the Spartans went through 1965 and 1966 unbeaten. Ironically, last fall's injury epidemic is partly responsible for this year's depth. Fifteen sophomores lettered last year and 12 of them started one or more games.

In addition, five established performers who were injured a year ago have been granted an extra season of eligibility. They are defensive tackles Ron Curl and Tom Barnum, defensive guard Bill Dawson, offensive guard Errol Roy and end Frank Butler. The first four are likely starters and potential all-stars.

There's plenty of holdover talent among the 33 lettermen, including guard Joe DeMamielleure, running back Eric Allen, towering safety Brad Van Pelt, quarterback George Mihaiu, who started three games before banging up a knee, and Mike Rasmussen, who took over and set season passing records for attempts, completions and yardage. Mihaiu and Rasmussen started spring practice all even. Also on hand is Jesse Williams, star of the 1970 spring drills as a freshman until knee surgery kayoed him for the season, too.

Most experts consider MICHIGAN the team to beat, but the Wolverines must play Michigan State away at East Lansing. Coach Bo Schembechler lost key people like quarterback Dan Moorhead, All-America tackle Dan Dierdorf, split end Paul Staroba, middle guard Henry Hill and linebacker Marty Huff.

Schembechler is pessimistic by nature, but a glance at such returnees as running backs Billy Taylor and Fritz Seyferth, wingback Glenn Doughty, guard Reggie McKenzie, tight end Paul Seymour and center Guy Murdock should put him in a better frame of mind. Rover Frank Gusich and cornerback Tom Darden are defensive returnees.

Nothing will help cure Schembechler's pessimism, however, if he doesn't find a quarterback. Larry Cipa, who would have been Moorhead's backup but for a knee injury, and Jack McBride, who was the No. 2 man, are in the picture. So are sophomores Kevin Casey, Tom Slade and Greg Koss. Casey was impressive impersonating Ohio State's Rex Kern before that game.

It's hard to see how OHIO STATE can come up to the level of the past three years, which showed a 27-2 record. All-Americas Jack Tatum and Jim Stillwagon are gone, along with second-teamers John Brockington and Mike Sensibaugh. Gone, too, are such stars as quarterback Kern, running back Leo Hayden, ends Jan White and Bruce Jankowski, linebacker Doug Adams and defensive back Tim Anderson.

Coach Woody Hayes does have eight starters back—offensive tackle Rick Simon, guard John Hicks, center Tom DeLeone, defensive end Ken Luttnier, tackles George Hasenohrl and Shad Williams, linebacker Stan White and cornerback Harry Howard.

He also came up with another exceptional freshman team, although not up to the level of 1968's super sophs. Some good ones are offensive tackle Dan Scott, defensive end Randy Patton, cornerback Lou Mathis, running back Jeff Davis, linebacker Randy Gradishar and quarterback Greg Hare, who'll fight it out with Don Maka, returning from cornerback to the position he played in high school.

WISCONSIN started to come in 1970, John Jardine's first season as coach, and the Badgers will be an exciting offensive team in 1971. Nine starters return on attack, including the backfield of quarterback Neil Graff, tailback Rufus "Roadrunner" Ferguson, fullback Alan "A Train" Thompson and flanker Albert Hannah, plus an outstanding tight end in Larry Mialik.

Defensively, third team All-America end Bill Gregory, linebacker Chuck Winfrey and five other regulars have departed. Safety Neovia Greyer, who picked off nine enemy passes, is the top returnee and sophomores could provide the necessary replacements.

They're anxiously awaiting the start of the Bob Blackman era at ILLINOIS. The Illini reached into the staid old Ivy League all the way to Dartmouth for Blackman, who compiled a 104-37-3 coaching record at the Hanover, N.H., school, including the 1970 Lambert Trophy champs, a 9-0 squad that shut out six opponents.

Blackman has two announced goals—to play in the Rose Bowl and to win a national championship. It won't be this year, but don't bet against him for the future. For 1971, the entire defensive unit is back, spearheaded by 240-pound tackle Tab Bennett. Blackman immediately changed from a 5-2 to a 4-3 setup. Offensively, the coach who became famous in the East for his so-called 1,001 offenses, must replace seven starters. In the backfield, however, he has quarterback Mike Wells, tailback Darrell Robinson and fullback Mike Navarro. Scatback sophomore John Wilson could be a great one.

The NORTHWESTERN Wildcats feel they'll be a serious contender for the first time in years, but coach Alex Agase, like Blackman at Illinois, must rebuild his offensive line. The only backfield loss was Mike Adame, but he was a record-breaking runner and the Big Ten's most valuable player last year. The league's top passing combo is back—quarterback Maurie Daigneau and flanker Barry Pearson.

On defense, eight regulars are on hand, including end Wil Hemby, tackle Jim Anderson and three-fourths of one of the nation's finest secondaries—Eric Hutchinson, Jack Duston and Mike Coughlin. Up from the frosh is split end Steve Harris, probably Northwestern's fastest player ever except for sprinter Jim Golliday, who had a 1953 tryout but could only run in a straight line and didn't last long.

Coach Bob DeMoss, developer of many fine quarterbacks at PURDUE, is still having problems—at quarterback. Chuck Piebes and Gary Danielson, who split the time last fall, are back and sophs Bob Bobrowski and Steve Burke will get a long look. If they can keep the defenses honest by throwing to Ashley Bell, among others, guard Steven Luken will be more than willing to open holes for halfback Otis Armstrong, who broke Leroy Keyes' one-season rushing record by six yards. Linebacker Jim Teal is a classy defender.

New coach Frank Lauterbur brought the nation's longest winning streak—23 games—with him from Toledo to IOWA, but that should end in a hurry. The Hawkeyes open at Ohio State. Lauterbur gets only four offensive starters back, although tailback Levi Mitchell and tackle John Muller are A-1 players. He'll have to pick a sophomore quarterback, either Rob Fick, a scrambler, or John Highland, a dropback passer. End Jerry Nelson and cornerback Craig Clemons are the best of the defensive returnees.

MINNESOTA's best are quarterback Craig Curry, fullback Ernie Cook, tight end Doug Kingsriter and linebacker Bill Light. That's not enough, although defensive end Curtis Mayfield, who would have started but for some nagging injuries, also returns. The frosh provide two good runners in John King and Paul Rudolph.

INDIANA had a record run of injuries, losing more than a dozen starters before or during the season. The outlook isn't pretty this year either, despite the return of 30 lettermen plus four from 1969 who missed last season with injuries. Ted McNulty, more or less the regular quarterback, threw only one touchdown pass and was intercepted 12 times. End Larry Morwick and safety Steve Porter are good defenders, but to give you some idea of the Hoosiers' misfortunes, they have a 6-7, 295-pound defensive tackle named Tim Roberson—who is hampered with a chronic bad knee that curtails his lateral movement.

TOLEDO has put unbeaten seasons back-to-back, won two straight Mid-American Conference crowns and successive Tangerine Bowls. A new head coach is in charge, former assistant Jack Murphy, who replaces Iowa-bound Lauterbur. If some eligibility problems clear up, particularly sophomore halfback Mel Gaines', the Rockets could be as good or better than ever.

Chuck Ealey doesn't get much recognition outside the MAC area but he's one of the better quarterbacks in the country. He's never played in a losing varsity game—30-0 in high school, 23-0 at Toledo. That streak should be extended. Toledo's other stars include ends Al Baker (tight) and Don Fair (split), middle guard Steve Schnitkey, linebacker John Niezgoda and third team All-America defensive tackle Mel Long, who may wind up at linebacker. He's a Vietnam veteran.

WESTERN MICHIGAN hopes to challenge Toledo with unusual depth, including some lettermen as far down as the third unit. Ted Grignon returns at quarterback, Bill Slater at defensive end and Tom Elias at linebacker. The Broncos are so deep they even feel they can withstand the expected academic loss of Roger Lawson, the MAC's top ground-gainer. One of the reasons is sophomore Larry Cates, who averaged 6.2 yards per carry and 29 yards per punt return with the frosh.

Just as you never overlook Ohio State in the Big Ten, so should you never overlook Ohio U. or Miami of Ohio in the MAC.

OHIO returns 18 starters among 32 lettermen, including record-setting runner Bill Gary, but must replace quarterback Steve Skiver. If backup Greg Deyton and/or sophs Jack Hay and Larry Hummer can't cut it, the Bobcats may have to switch Dave Juenger from flanker, where he made second team all-conference. Tackle Al Benton heads the offensive line and linebacker Jack LeVeck anchors the defense.

MIAMI lost second team All-America cornerback Dick Adams but has few defensive problems, thanks to tackle Dick Dougherty, middle guard Doug Krause and linebacker Marc Smith. Offensively the losses were greater and the Redskins hope sophomores can come through at quarterback (Stew Showalter), tailback (Bob Hitchins) and split end (Jamie Showkier).

BOWLING GREEN underwent its first losing season in 16 years. The Falcons will rebuild with newcomers from the best frosh team in the league and a dozen of them could start, including quarterback Joe Babics, tailback Paul Miles, split end Rick Newman and tight end Greg Meczka. Two good vets are center Dennis Maupin and linebacker Rich Duetemeyer.

KENT STATE has an all-league center, Fred Blosser, a new coach, Don James—and a lot of problems. The old coach, Dave Puddington, quit in disgust at college life today in general. James inherits the top three quarterbacks and top three receivers, but their names don't spread fear through the league.

One of the nation's better teams resides in the Midwest, namely at South Bend, Ind. The name is NOTRE DAME and the Fighting Irish are riding high again thanks to their Cotton Bowl victory over Texas. If another in the long line of great Notre Dame quarterbacks pops up to replace Joe Theismann, the Irish could go all the way.

The day after the Cotton Bowl, Coach Ara Parseghian said, "I woke up this morning with my mind whirling already. For the first time in 5½ years there'll be a real battle for the quarterback spot." Bill Etter, the logical successor, had to give up football last season because of recurring headaches, leaving juniors Pat Steenberge and Jim Bulger and sophomore Cliff Brown to fight it out.

The 1970 Irish were predominately a junior team and 18 Cotton Bowl starters are back. Gone are All-Americans Theismann and guard Larry DiNardo, who missed the bowl with a knee injury, but thitrd-teamers like split end Tom Gatewood and defensive end Walt Patulski are back, along with tight end Mike Creaney, running backs Ed Gulyas, Larry Parker and John Cieszkowski, defensive backs Clarence Ellis, Ralph Stepaniak and Mike Crotty and defensive tackles Greg Marx and Mike Kadish.

CINCINNATI is optimistic, thanks mostly to the return of the nation's second best 1-2 running punch in tailback Steve Cowan and quarterback Albert Johnson. Yes, a running QB. Cowan, however, moves to flanker to beef up the receiving game and also to make room at tailback for Dick James, a beautiful blend of speed and power who alternated with Cowan until he was hurt.

DAYTON's ground attack should also be worth watching, especially overworked Gary Kosins, who lugged the leather 344 times for 1,172 yards and 18 touchdowns. Ron Krechting returns at quarterback and the Flyers are keeping their fingers crossed that split end Larry Nickels' knee will come around.

There will be a tremendous turnover at NORTHERN ILLINOIS, where coach Doc Urich came up with a fine freshman crew in his first full recruiting year. They're sophomores now and such as wide receivers Joe Rockett and Byron Florence (both speedsters), fullback Mark Kellar and a defensive tackle Bill Tyler should help at once.

It took an unusual chain of circumstances to make NEBRASKA the national champions of 1970. Texas had to lose to Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl, Ohio State had to lose to Stanford in the Rose Bowl and, of course, the Cornhuskers themselves had to beat Louisiana State in the Orange Bowl.

But that's just what happened, and when it was all over coach Bob Devaney of Nebraska was willing to tell the world that "We're No. 1" and was ready to take on all comers, even the Pope. Devaney's crack that "even the Pope couldn't vote Notre Dame No. 1" was a magnificent end to a thrilling season.

Gone from the championship team are All-America tackle Bob Newton, All-America linebacker Jerry Murtaugh, third team All-America middle guard Ed Periard, halfback Joe Orduna, split end Guy Ingles, tackles Wally Winter and Dave Walline, fullback Dan Schneiss, monster man Dave Morock and guard Donnie McGhee.

Not many teams could survive those kind of losses. Nebraska can. The rich, it seems, get richer. Some 36 lettermen are on hand, including the ace quarterback duo of Jerry Tagge and Van Brownson; halfback Jeff Kinney, who alternated with Orduna; flanker Johnny Rodgers, the super soph; defensive end Willie Harper, Sophomore Lineman of the Year in the Big Eight and the outstanding lineman in the Orange Bowl; safety Bill Kosch, the leading interceptor with seven; and cornerback Joe Blahak, called by some the best sophomore defensive back of the Devaney era.

Want more? Okay. The freshmen were 4-0 and quarterback David Humm, believe it or not, may be good enough to push Tagge and Brownson.

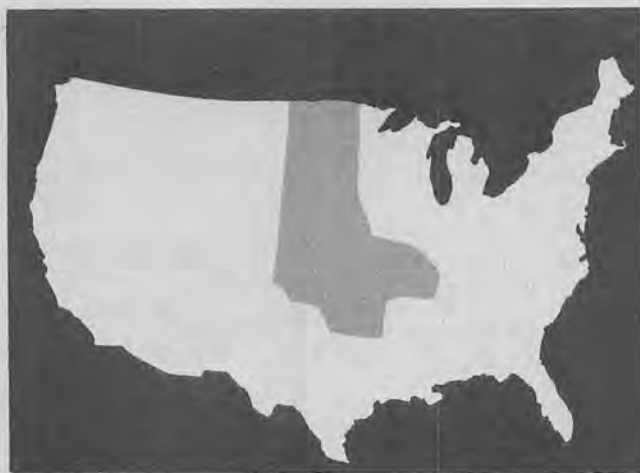

"We should be a helluva team again," says Devaney, "we could be better than 1970. We're No. 1 and it will take a helluva team to knock us out."

That team Devaney's talking about could be in the very same conference—OKLAHOMA. The Sooners have 16 starters back from the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl squad, including the entire backfield of senior quarterback Jack Mildren and junior running backs Joe Wylie, Greg Pruitt and Leon Crosswhite.

The Sooners stuck mainly on the ground with their 1970 Wishbone offense but Mildren may put the ball in the air a lot more this time around to keep people honest. If so, he has the receivers to catch it in Albert Chandler, A. G. Perryman, Willie Franklin, John Harrison and Pruitt. Only two offensive regulars are gone.

Middle linebacker Steve Aycock leads the defensive veterans along with linebacker Gary Baccus and end Raymond Hamilton. The material is good. The schedule is tough, but the toughest foes, Nebraska and Southern California, will be faced in Norman and the Texas game is always in Dallas. Nebraska comes to town Nov. 25 and the fireworks could make July 4 look like a popgun.

ord-breaking runner John Riggins, tackle Steve Lawson, tight end Larry Brown and coach Pepper Rogers, who took off for UCLA. Don Fambrough, a long-time KU assistant, was moved up and promptly scrapped Rodgers' offense and defense, installing the Wing-T and a five-man defensive line.

Fambrough inherits 16 starters, nine on defense. They include quarterback Dan Heck, offensive linemen Bobby Childs and Mike McCoy and defensive lineman Gery Palmer, who moves from end to tackle. The running game should be strong despite the loss of Riggins, who broke Gale Sayers' school career record and was the first runner taken in the pro draft. Steve Conley was a regular halfback, Vince O'Neil a capable sub for Riggins and newcomers Delvin Williams and Carlos Mathews are classy performers.

COLORADO's personnel is enough to make a coach grin from ear to ear but the schedule may have Eddie Crowder pulling out what little hair he has left. What coach would look forward to road games at Louisiana State, Ohio State, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Kansas?

Crowder has the horses, though—plenty of vets and a lot of talent from an unbeaten freshman club, Colorado's best ever for over-all depth. The Buffaloes made a good move by hiring Jerry Clairborne, an excellent defensive coach, who was dropped as Virginia Tech's head man.

The top individual is defensive end Herb Orvis, a second team All-America, but Clairborne will have to come up with six new starters. On offense, Jon Keyworth and John Tarver are outstanding runners and Cliff Branch, who has 9.3 speed, is a superb receiver. Paul Arendt, one of 1970's alternate quarterbacks, decided not to return. That leaves redshirt sophomore Ken Johnson, a strong runner in the Bob Anderson mold who almost was pressed into service when Crowder got desperate last season, and exciting little rookie Joe Duenas and Greg Briner, a transfer from Southern Cal.

MISSOURI lost its "big play" people—tailback Joe Moore, flanker Mel Gray, second team All-America tackle Larron Jackson, defensive tackle Rocky Wallace and linebacker Nip Weisenfels. Also gone (to the Green Bay Packers) is the man who devised the big plays, coach Dan Devine. Long-time assistant Al Onofrio takes over and, with no receiver comparable to sprint star Gray, probably will use three setbacks.

JEFF KINNEY
Nebraska runner

Offensive stars will be split end John Henley and guard Mickey Kephart, and the quarterback will be Mike Farmer or Chuck Roper, whoever looks better. Neither resembled Johnny Unitas a year ago. The picture is brighter on defense with the return of end John Brown, tackle John Cowan, middle guard Steve Mizer, linebacker Sam Britts and safeties Mike Fink and Pete Buha.

The entire offensive line is gone at OKLAHOMA STATE, but the new one may be better—eventually. Newcomers from the best freshman team in many years offer the quality that's been lacking and such as super tight end Reuben Gant, split end Tom Stremme and interior linemen Don Boatright, Danny Case, Mike Clendennen, Sam Carraway, Randy Flood and Glenn Spiller will battle for starting assignments, along with junior college imports Mike Treece (270 pounds).

There's unprecedented depth at quarterback with holdover Tony Pounds, sophomores Brent Blackman and Don Hardcastle and Florida transfer Gene Nichol. Bobby Cole is an outstanding runner and Dick Graham a grade-A flanker. The defense will feature holdovers Gil Barnes up front, linebacker Joe Crews and backs Tom Carraway and Lee Stover.

KANSAS STATE could do no better than 5-5 and 6-5 the last two years with ace passer Lynn Dickey and now the Wildcats have to do without him. Dennis Morrison, the No. 3 man in 1970, is battling four others for the quarterback job. Whoever gets it will use more play action passes than Dickey did, will use his runners more and will have a tight end. Dickey had three wide receivers.

Bill Butler returns at tailback (the other runners, Mike Montgomery and Henry Hawthorne, went to the pros) and sophomore Isaac Jackson is a blue-chip prospect. Marion Latimore and Steve Beyrle are standouts up front. Only three regulars return on defense, including nose guard Joe Colquitt.

IOWA STATE's 5-6 record was the Cyclones' best in quite a while and they think this year could be better. The rest of the Big Eight is a large deterrent, however, even with many offensive starters back like quarterback Dean Carlson, quarterback-tailback Geroge Amundson and guard Ray Harm. One reason is the loss of eight defensive regulars, including the entire front four. The key veteran returning is linebacker Keith Schroeder. End Andy Waller returns after missing 1970 following a pre-season auto accident.

Drake and West Texas State boost the Missouri Valley Conference race from five to seven teams (New Mexico State joins the fun in 1972), but the battle should once again be between Memphis State and Louisville, which finished 1-2—or rather 2-1—in 1970.

MEMPHIS STATE is loaded with running backs such as Paul Gowen, Ray Jamieson and sophomore Cliff Taylor, who was hurt as a freshman but could be one of the Tigers' best ever. All-star tackle Mike Stark leads an offensive line which needs help. Seven starters are back on defense.

Fearless coach Lee Corso predicts an unbeaten season for LOUISVILLE, which went to the Pasadena Bowl a year ago. He has Tom Jackson, a super linebacker, to spark the defense but quarterback John Madeya could get a push from sophomore Mike Campbell, a better runner. Greg Campbell and Tom Jesukaitis are hold-over running backs and barefoot, chinny-whiskered Scott Marcus does the kicking.

NORTH TEXAS STATE hopes to rebound from its losingest season ever, 3-8. Coach Rod Rust signed four all-state junior college defensive linemen and a couple of them will start. A good quarterback and running back could have turned things around last year. Quarterback is wide open with seven candidates in the running, while the ground game could hinge on sophomore Charlie Johnson, who'll battle holdovers Carl Wyatt and Bob Wyatt. Linebacker Glynn Hachtel and safety Lyndon Fox are good ones on defense.

TULSA also should be improved, thanks to some pretty good junior college linemen, but the schedule is much tougher. Safety Ralph McGill is the top defensive returnee while the offense features guard Gary Christenson, fullback Ed White and quarterback Drew Pearson, whose biggest claim to fame is that he was Joe Theismann's successor at South River, N.J., High School.

Over the past three years, WEST TEXAS STATE has sent running backs Mercury Morris, Duane Thomas and Rocky Thompson to the pros as high draft choices. This year could be different. Coach Joe Kerbel was told he wouldn't be rehired for 1972 so he quit before 1971. Gene Mayfield, a highly successful high school coach from Odessa, took over. But Kerbel hadn't recruited many junior college people and Mayfield started hitting the high schools, so he'll have to rely on what holdovers are available and hope quarterback Ed Holwig lives up to his potential.

DRAKE returns 17 starters and gets some junior college help, too. The Bulldogs threw a lot in 1970—Mike Grejbow-ski passed for 1,437 yards and 13 touchdowns before he was hurt and Dennis Redmond came on to pile up 1,175 yards and the same number of TDs—and they'll throw a lot again in 1971. When they don't, watch out for tailback Jerry Heston, who rambled for 1,104 yards and 10 touchdowns as a freshman on the 1970 varsity.

WICHITA STATE was back playing football three weeks after the plane crash which took 31 lives, including 14 players. Last year's freshmen were made eligible for the so-called Second Season and the Shockers found a jewel of a quarterback in Rick Baehr, who's also a straight A student. Five crash survivors return to action, including Randy Jackson, as good a runner as there is in the MVC, and linebacker John Hoheisel, who switches to defensive end. ▲

INDEPENDENTS

1. Houston

The good burghers of Southwest Conference outposts at Arkansas, Baylor, Rice, Southern Methodist, Texas A&M, Texas Christian and Texas Tech feel that TEXAS, once again, is the team to beat.

Darrell Royal does not. Now, Royal is a man worth listening to. Not only has he coached Texas to seven SWC titles in 14 years, but he is the only man ever to win national Coach of the Year honors twice from his fellow mentors. Besides all that, there's something mighty quotable about him.

For example:

—"We're gonna dance with who brung us," Royal said before last season's 24-11 Cotton Bowl loss to Notre Dame, indicating that the Longhorns would stick with the Wishbone offense that brought them 30 consecutive victories.

—"We're gonna have to stop the rural runnin' and get into some city traffic," he said, meaning Texas eventually would have to run against the middle of the Notre Dame line rather than around end all the time. A variation of this is, "We're gonna have to stop runnin' east and west and start runnin' north and south."

—"Opinions are like noses; everybody's got one," he said at the height of the Texas-Penn State "We're No. 1" dispute of 1969. Only he didn't say noses.

Royal's latest remarks aren't the funny kind, except perhaps to those aforementioned conference foes who have found him a tough nut to crack—or beat.

"We're rebuilding," he says. "We lost too much. I don't think we'll be any kind of favorite."

Think again, Darrell. True, 23 lettermen, including 13 starters, are gone, and they bore such names as Steve Worster (All-America fullback), Bill Atessis (All-America defensive end), Bobby Wuensch (second team All-America tackle), Cotton Speyrer and Scott Henderson.

But plenty of familiar names are back. Eddie Phillips, for instance, a gem of a quarterback and just perfect for the Wishbone, a Cotton Bowl star even in defeat. Jim Bertelsen, on a par with Worster as a running back. Jerry Sisemore, 1970's super soph and the only returnee in the offensive line. On defense, end David Ar-ledge, tackles Carl White and Ray Dowdy, linebacker Stan Mauldin and cornerback Alan Lowry.

Then there are the names of the future from the third unbeaten freshman team in five years, like sophomores Glenn Gaspard, a 215-pound running back who's supposed to be better than Worster at the same stage, wide receiver Jim Moore, center Bill Wyman, linebackers Greg Dahlberg and Malcolm Minnick, defensive tackle Robert Guevara, defensive back Ronnie Workman and running back Don Burrick, who gained a whopping 713 yards and scored nine touchdowns on only 65 carries.

ARKANSAS has been runnerup to Texas the past two years. Like his golfing buddy Royal, coach Frank Broyles also lost heavily via graduation, such people as quarterback Bill Montgomery, tailback Bill Burnett, split end Chuck Dicus and All-America defensive tackle Dick Bumpas. But, says an Arkansas spokesman, "We try to have people ready to step in."

Joe Ferguson, who threw a zillion touchdown passes in high school and completed 48 of 86 for 741 yards and four TDs while backing up Montgomery last season, takes over at quarterback. At tailback, there's flashy Jon Richardson, who gained just as much yardage as Burnett in six fewer carries. When a drive peters out, there's placekicker Bill McClard, who hit 50 of 51 extra points and 10 of 15 field goals, including a 60-yarder, longest in modern day major college football.

In the spring, Broyles was toying with a switch from a four-man defensive front to the split-6 which Notre Dame threw at Texas.

Last year saw a three-way SWC race. The party of the third part was TEXAS TECH and the 1971 forecast is more of the same. The Red Raiders are hurting only in the defensive line, where three of the four positions are vacant, but junior college star Don Miller is expected to help there.

Running back Doug McCutcheon gained 1,068 yards and was the SWC's Sophomore of the Year. Also back are quarterback Charles Napper, receivers Johnny Odom and Robbie Best, linebacker Larry Molinare and cornerback Ken Perkins. From an unbeaten freshman team, halfback-quarterback Joe Barnes could provide the breakaway threat Tech needs.

Coach Jim Pittman no sooner switched from Tulane to TEXAS CHRISTIAN than four black sophomores, all starters, quit school, citing a lack of social activities on campus. At least one also publicly disagreed with Pittman's rules on appearance, which banned mustaches. Pittman recouped quickly. His first recruit was a Negro, a blue-chip receiver named Alfred Nelms.

The injury jinx hit the Horned Frogs in 1970. Only six players started every game. Guard J. R. Eubanks broke his leg against Arkansas and record-breaking runner Bobby Davis shattered his collarbone on the next play. Davis is back, along with quarterback Steve Judy, the top three receivers and defensive tackle Ken Steel, who reportedly was farther advanced last year as a sophomore than Bob Lilly.

Top newcomers include defensive end Ed Robinson, tight end-linebacker Johnny Ott and a speedy defensive back named Billy Sadler, who transferred from Houston where he was on an academic scholarship.

Things were looking up at TEXAS A&M despite a 2-9 record. All-America safety Dave Elmendorf was the only starter gone, but then quarterback Lex James came down with hepatitis in the spring and was hospitalized. If he can't make it come September, the battle will be between holdover Joe Mac King and soph Tim Trimmier.

Also back are running back Brad Dusek, offensive linemen Andy Phillely and Leonard Forey, linebacker Mike Lord and defensive back David Hoot. From the freshmen, Mark Green is said to have better moves than Elmendorf at safety. He, too, could join the QB derby.

Having lost Chuck Hixson, who set all sorts of passing records, SOUTHERN METHODIST decided to install the Texas Wishbone. The key is Gary Hammond, a wide receiver as a sophomore, a tailback as a junior and, hopefully, a quarterback as a senior. He was a high school star at that position.

Hammond, SMU's best ball player, could even wind up at split end. If he does, the quarterback, scrap will be among redshirt Keith Bobo, sophomore Casey Ortey and backup Gary Carter. The receivers are there in Raymond Mapps and Randy Dossett and newcomers T. J. Hutchinson, Alvin Maxson and Joe Gallini are expected to juice up the running game. Linebacker Sherwood Blount, 1970's leading tackler, spearheads the defense and the secondary returns intact—Robert Popelka, Pat Curry, David Rogers and Alan Everest.

After a winless 1969 campaign, BAYLOR showed signs of life in 1970. Ron Evans and Roger Goree are top-grade linemen, Matthew Williams is a good runner and Phil Beall, son of coach Bill, is a crack safety.

The problems begin at quarterback. Laney Cook, a passer, is gone. Si South-all, a runner, is back but has bad knees. The answer may be redshirt Randy Cavender, a rollout QB who could fit right into Baylor's rollout offense.

Everything's up in the air at RICE. That's where new coach Bill Peterson, late of Florida State, would like the football to be. Unfortunately, Philip Wood, the incumbent quarterback, isn't much of a passer and probably will wind up at safety. There's likely to be a lot more shifting before the 1971 Owls debut against crosstown rival Houston.

Quarterback is wide open—if you must have a name try redshirt Mike Kramer—but Stahle Vincent, John Cardwell and Mike Phillips should provide adequate rushing. A big plus is the return of Rodrigo Barnes, SWC Defensive Lineman of the Year in 1969 but ineligible last season. Mike Taylor is a classy defensive back.

Ironically, there's not a coach in the conference with any sort of SWC winning streak. The only schools to win their last games were Rice and TCU and both have new coaches.

The only area independent is HOUSTON, home of imaginative coach Bill Yeoman and the Veer-T. For several years, it also was the home of Elmo Wright, who left with the NCAA career mark for catching touchdown passes and was an All-America.

There were other key losses, like defensive tackle Glen Lewis, linebacker Charles Hall, a third team All-America, and three members of the secondary. But the offensive backfield returns quarterback Gary Mullins, hopefully over his knee miseries, running backs Robert Newhouse (6.4 yards per carry) and Tommy Mozisek (6.1) and flanker Robert Ford.

Linebacker Frank Ditta, who set a school record for tackles, and interception leader Ronny Peacock head the defensive vets. ▲

Take Your Pick of 2 EXCITING FIELDS

1 Architectural Drafting

Today's population explosion guarantees boom in building of homes, churches, schools, factories, office buildings & warehouses is just starting. Thousands Architectural Draftsmen needed NOW because drawings must be made of every part of every building before ground can be broken.

2 Mechanical Drafting

Skyrocketing U.S. mass production requires millions of drawings & thousands of Mechanical Draftsmen all along the way. Drawings must be made of every PART of every product used in the U.S. (as well as of the machines that make these parts) before production can be started.

U. S. LABOR DEPT. REPORTS SERIOUS SHORTAGE OF DRAFTSMEN

(The following quotes from U. S. Labor Dept. point out nationwide shortage for Draftsmen).

"The dearth of qualified applicants has resulted in increasing calls for trainees, as employers in many areas relaxed hiring specifications. Experience requirements have been virtually eliminated, along with age barriers."

"Steadily growing employer requirements...were accompanied by marked reductions in the supply of draftsmen available."

TOP AMERICAN EMPLOYERS WELCOME NASD GRADUATES

"We would be interested in interviewing your grads as potential employees." REMINGTON

"At the present time we have several openings available for qualified Draftsmen. I look forward to considering graduates of your institution." WESTINGHOUSE

"We have immediate openings for designers and Draftsmen and have a definite interest in interviewing candidates immediately."

25 years of Football Forecasting

HERE'S OUR RECORD

Last year EZ Publications forecasted accurately on 84% of our selections. Some of these include:

- A complete sweep of all Bowl Games on New Year's Day.
- Correctly selected Dallas over Detroit, Baltimore over Oakland in Playoffs.
- Tabbed Baltimore as Super Bowl winner.
- Our "Hot Line" special won 10 of 12 on Saturday, 9 of 12 on Sunday.
- Plus many other stunning upsets.

HERE'S OUR METHOD

- We have at our disposal up-to-the-minute information on weather conditions, key injuries, and psychological factors.
- After exhaustive research, we select only those games that have the best chance of BEATING THE SPREAD.
- Before we send out any selections the staff compares notes with our computer analysis.
- Our Bulletin will contain these games plus our reasons for selecting them.

LOSING YOUR HAIR?

Hair Receding? Scalp Itch? Dandruff?
SEND FOR THIS NEW MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

Through clinical findings pertaining to hair and scalp biology, a new hope has been discovered for men and women who have resigned themselves to the loss of hair when due to itchy scalp, ugly dandruff, excessive oiliness or dryness, common symptoms of an unhealthy scalp. It's called Vitacrin Formula and is based on a German medical discovery! It is the only formula of its kind in America, and we believe there is nothing now known to science that can do more to save your hair and help combat most scalp disorders. Prove it to yourself!—let Vitacrin Formula go to work for you. Satisfaction guaranteed or money back. Send name, address and $1.00 plus 25¢ shipping cost for introductory trial size or $7.00 regular size (50 treatments). No C.O.D. Write Vitaco, Inc. Department SSC71 227 E. 45 St. N.Y., N.Y. 10017

CHAMP ATHLETE REVEALS SHORT-CUTS FOR BUILDING STRENGTH AND MUSCLES QUICKLY

— And You Can Use Them to "Muscularize" Your Own Body!

HOW did Larry Scott change his once thin, weak-looking body into one that is so muscular, so powerful and so well-proportioned that he has been called the "Most Perfectly Developed Man of All Time"? How did he make the amazing transformation that won him the biggest titles in the world: "Mr. America," "Mr. Universe" and "Mr. Olympia"? And how did he do it so quickly?

Now, for the first time Larry reveals his innermost training secrets in 7 easy-to-understand, quick-reading courses. In them he tells of "secret" exercise methods that have never been made public before — methods so revolutionary, so astounding in the results they bring that it's almost hard to believe — until you try them yourself.

For instance, in one course Larry tells how you can quickly add 2" — 3" — 5" or even MORE to your "pipestem"-thin upper arms. In another course he gives you his unique system that can pile up to 5 power-packed inches to your chest and improve your lung power for swimming, running and other sports. In still another he gives you a fool-proof method for adding 4" of strong, athletic muscle to your legs and pack them with spring and "piston-powered" speed. All this and much, much MORE he reveals in his 7 complete courses. Here's the complete list:

1. How to Develop a He-Man V-Shaped BACK
2. How I built My W-I-D-E SHOULDERS
3. Building a "Mr. America" CHEST

4. Herculean LEGS The "Mr. Universe" Way
5. How I Built My 20-Inch BICEPS
6. Molding the "Mr. America" BODY
7. Album of Larry Scott's Best Photos and How to Pose

Each course is complete and filled with action photos that show how Larry performs his "secret" exercises. Thousands have been sold at $1.98 each — a total of almost $14. But now as a reader of this magazine you get all 7 for just $7.98 postpaid — a savings of over 40%!

Let Larry prove his system WORKS! MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

OLYMPIC MUSCLEMEN REVEAL SENSATIONAL TRAINING SECRET

WORKED
FOR THEM—IT
CAN WORK
WONDERS
FOR YOU!
IN ONLY 5
MINUTES A DAY!

Have you ever longed to have the powerful muscle-packed body of an Olympic star? Then take a tip from the stars themselves. Two of the most successful teams in the 1964 Olympics were the Germans (10 gold medals) and the Americans (30 gold medals) and members of both teams trained using a special device which can build up nearly every muscle in the human body MANY TIMES FASTER THAN CONVENTIONAL TECHNIQUES!

This astonishing body-developer (known as Bullworker 2) is based on revolutionary isotonic/isometric principles and its success has been proven not only by Olympic stars but also by thousands of ordinary users throughout the world! More massive torso...bulging biceps...legs like iron...now all these powerful, manly features can start to be yours, yes yours, IN A MATTER OF ONLY WEEKS! Whether you're 15 or 50, it makes no difference: Bullworker can work fast to help you look more dynamic and feel more dynamic whatever your age, whatever your present physical condition!

PROVE IT FOR YOURSELF
FREE
—in only
14 days

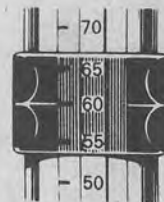

To prove our absolute confidence in this world-tested power-builder we challenge you to take up this guaranteed no risk offer. Try a 5-minute workout with Bullworker 2 every day for 14 days. If, after that, you do not look and feel stronger, tougher, more dynamic, simply return it without owing a cent.

FREE BOOKLET

This free 24-page color booklet illustrates the step-by-step isotonic methods used with Bullworker 2 and explains how you can pack massive new power and vigor into your body in only weeks. Mail this coupon NOW and we will send your free copy straight away—entirely without obligation.

Fast results are absolutely guaranteed against a full cash refund.

Built-in Powermeter
You can actually
measure your muscle-
power g-r-o-w-i-n-g
from the very first day.

A million jobs have disappeared since 1960 Will Your Job be Next to Go?

Shouldn't you start your own business NOW ...while still employed?

Before more jobs disappear through mergers, automation, and mechanization, shouldn't you at least investigate the way so many men have become owners of profitable businesses—starting spare time and now are independent of bosses, strikes, layoffs and automation? All that's needed is your name on the coupon. Facts mailed free. No salesman will call.

Here are facts: With some ambition and little over a thousand dollars, you start your own Duraclean business in spare time, without risking your job or paycheck!

It's a nationally advertised, worldwide business. It does not require skill, more than an average education, or traits except the willingness to work to start grossing $12, $19, or $26 profit per hour. Then you build by adding servicemen and women.

From your first job, you can expect to gross $12 for each hour of service you do personally! Your servicemen, at $5 hourly, each bring you an additional $7 per hour.

This is a service to homeowners as well as offices and stores and institutions—a sensationally improved method of cleaning carpets and upholstered furniture right on the customer's premises—the EXCLUSIVE DURACLEAN SYSTEM!

When you have had your own carpet and furniture cleaned, you know that ordinary methods grind fibers with harsh scrubbing, leaving carpet soggy for days.

This exclusive ABSORPTION METHOD lifts out dirt and greasy soil with a gentle, almost dry foam. Do-it-yourself "so-called" cleaning methods and scrubbing drive soil deeper. You TAKE IT OUT. Carpets and furniture can be used again in a few hours! This is vital to stores, offices, motels.

You operate under a nationally known name—use an exclusive process recommended by the nation's biggest carpet mills and commended by Parents' Magazine. You receive our step by step guidance and help.

Your training shows you how to perform your 7 superior "on location" services... how to get customers, how to control your expenses, how to make the maximum profit. You become an expert in the care of furnishings. It is an interesting, exciting career.

Although in time you will wish to buy one or more trucks from your profits, no truck or office is needed to start. You can carry all equipment in your car trunk. Your phone calls can be received at home.

As a Duraclean Dealer you are the sole owner of an independent business and are your own boss. You keep all the net profits.

This business can pay you far more than most men earn—with only the talent and ambition you now possess, and you can operate in any one of three ways.

Many let servicemen do the work while they make a substantial profit on each.

Some men operate permanently in spare time for the extra money they need. Some start in spare time and quit their jobs only after they see they can make a lot more money as a full time Duraclean Specialist.

Even small one-man businesses with one or two helpers can and do bring in $30,000 and more annually. A very high percent is clear profit to you.

The Duraclean Business can be as small as you want or it can be expanded to the level your ambition dictates. There is no limit on income for an ambitious man.

We are about to appoint a limited number of men who are truly ambitious, and anxious to do something about their futures. We want men who will follow our proven plans for success and who want—with our help—their own successful businesses.

If this opportunity interests you, please send your name, on the coupon at the right, for a FREE 24-page booklet which gives complete details on the Duraclean business. No salesman will call on you. After you've read the facts, decide in the privacy of your home if you wish to take the next step toward starting a business.

WE SWITCHED!

"For the first time in 20 years I've got security—without fear of losing my factory job."

H. E., Ohio

"I took in $2880 in April. I worked from my home. My wife handles all telephone calls. We both enjoy our new-found independence and the compliments we get from satisfied customers."

J.F.A., Texas

"In our first calendar year we did a gross of $40,000. Without constant help from the Duraclean home office such growth would not have been possible."

M.L., Illinois

"Duraclean brought security and an education for my daughters. We've done as much as $3000 on a single job."

Mrs. B.B., Mass.

"Making 50% more than on any job I ever had. I've earned as high as $1300 in a single week."

J.S., Fla.

"My biggest day was a sorority house that brought me $360.00."

H.B., Texas

THESE ARE JUST A FEW OF THE LETTERS IN OUR FILES FROM MEN AND WOMEN WHO HAVE FOUND SUCCESS AS DURACLEAN DEALERS. (IN ANOTHER YEAR YOUR STATEMENT COULD BE HERE, TOO.)

CREATE A NEW, EXCITING AND FUN-GOING YOU IS SHOWN RIGHT HERE!

4 NEW "SLIM-GARD"

Trims Inches Off Your Middle, Waist, Hips and Lower Back While You Wear It Without Exercising!

Meet my pupil, Irvin Kozewski, age 46. He has a 48" chest, 30" waist, weighs 190 pounds. He's won more than 50 trophies for "Most Muscular Waist," in various "Mr. America" contests. Says Irving, "You wouldn't think that a guy like me could wear the SLIM-GARD, but I do. Every day if possible. It keeps my waist and middle trim and muscular while I wear it. I swear by it. You chub by guys will, too!"

SLIM-GARD is the newest, space age way to tone up and trim down your torso. All you do is wear it and it takes inches off your waist. It's fantastic the way it works! SLIM-GARD acts like a waist supporter. It hugs your body, keeping warm air in, cold air out and inducing immediate perspiration. Wear it on the golf course, tennis court, at home, or when you jog. SLIM-GARD won't tear at hairs... you won't even know you're wearing it. Stretches to approximately 6". Made from the finest, most resistant neoprene rubber. Easy to slip on and off. Has heavy-duty zipper. SLIM-GARD won't tear, rip, or come apart. Available in Small (22-30 waist); Medium (30-35); Large (35-42). ORDER NOW! Only $11.95

Are you missing out on the extra pay of an I.C.S. graduate?

Recently we mailed out a questionnaire to a group of our graduates, two years after they had received their I.C.S. diplomas.

The main objective of this questionnaire was to determine if spare-time study had helped them get ahead faster.

- Those who answered the questionnaire reported that they were earning almost $1100 more (median) than the day they'd received their diplomas.
- Over 18% said their annual pay had grown $2000 or more.
- The number of graduates making over $10,000 had more than doubled.

All this proves one thing. Bosses—who give the raises—know the value of I.C.S. training. (More than 7000 have proved it by entering formal training arrangements with us.)

If you study with I.C.S., will your pay grow as fast? It may grow even faster. So take the first step toward higher pay right now. Mail the coupon.
